U.S. SEEKS 20 PER CENT NAVAL REDUCTIONS AT LONDON PARLEY

JAPAN TELLS OF EQUALITY DEMANDS

Norman Davis Carries Roosevelt's Plans To Treaty Meeting

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press) LONDON, Dec. 9. —The United States took the lead in the international naval conference today, advocating a 20 per cent reduction in existing naval treaty tonnage.

Before a full dress gathering of diplomats and admirals of five sea powers with 1500 warships, meeting in the historic Locarno room of the London foreign office, Norman H. Davis presented President Roosevelt's suggestion for progressive reduction of sea armaments.

Urges Frank Talk
If no reduction was possible, President Roosevelt recommended strongly continuance of present naval fleet limitations.

Failing all else, Davis, chief of the American delegation, advocated a "frank and friendly exchange of views to discover other paths of mutual understanding, to prevent a naval race."

Great Britain's Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, called upon principal seapowers to yield some of their demands in an attempt to "avert the calamity of unrestricted naval competition."

The chief Japanese delegate, Admiral Osumi Nagano, followed with a request for a "just and fair agreement on disarmament," setting forth thus his nation's demands for equality with Great Britain and the United States in naval strength.

"The object of this conference, we understand, is to conclude a new comprehensive treaty of naval disarmament with a view to regulating the naval strengths of the powers concerned from the year 1937," Admiral Nagano said.

"Such a new treaty, in the view of the Japanese government should be based upon the fundamental idea of setting up, among the great powers of the world, a common limit of naval armaments to be fixed as low as possible, which they shall not be allowed to exceed; simultaneously, offensive forces must be drastically reduced, and ample defensive forces provided, so as to bring about a substantial measure of disarmament, thus securing a state of non-aggression and non-aggression among the powers."

The opening of the conference climaxed a year of British diplomatic efforts to mend the wreckage of last year's futile conversations to discover a formula for an agreement to replace the Washington and London limitations treaties expiring with 1936.

Outlook Is Dark
Despite the strenuous explorations, the preliminary exchanges of the last few days and the conciliatory tones of the opening addresses, the outlook for conference success still was dark.

Informed naval forces attributed this pessimism to the Japanese demand for equality, to replace its ratio of 3 to 5 for the United States and Britain under present limitations; French and Italian rivalry in the Mediterranean; sanctions developments in the application of League of Nations war penalties on Italy, tensions arising from the North China autonomy movement and other controversies.

Woman Returns $1000 Heart Balm Won 40 Years Ago

COLUMBIANA, Ala., Dec. 9. (P)—Robert E. Cosper, 70-year-old storekeeper, was $1000 richer today because a woman who won a breach of promise suit against him 40 years ago "had a change of heart."

"She sent it back by her preacher, $1000," he said, "and I've forgiven her for suing me. She told me she was a good church member and the thing had been bothering her conscience."

MORE ABOUT GRAND JURY

ton Beach, who favored the whipstock proposition and who recently asked the grand jury had been asked to probe the West charges, and Assemblyman James B. Utt, another major witness in the matter, were not called today.

While the investigation of the office of County Recorder Justice Whitney is still a matter of interest to the grand jury, it is believed that today's session was not devoted to that subject. Miss Whitney already has been indicted on charges of appropriating county funds to her own use. The grand jury last week was reported to have been considering action to bring about Miss Whitney's removal instead of indicting that she be tried on the indictment.

banks board had contended that congress has "supreme and exclusive power over the national fiscal system."

"They said the legislation was necessary to promote the 'general welfare,' a point also made on behalf of the AAA."

The litigation grew out of the application of the Hopkins Federal Savings and Loan association, the Reliance Building and Loan association and the Northern Building and Loan association for a federal charter. The Wisconsin banking department took legal action to prevent it.

Aided Home Owners
The Home Loan act was passed to aid distressed home owners meet their indebtedness. Twelve regional home loan banks were established to make advances on mortgages held by thrift and home-financing institutions which joined the system.

The HOLC, Justice Cardozo said, "to the extent that it permits the conversion of state associations into federal ones in contravention of the laws of the place of their creation, is an unconstitutional encroachment upon the reserve powers of the states."

"It extends in that view to moneyed corporations generally and even to other corporations, if congress chooses to convert them into creatures of the federal government."

BUILDING BOOM

SAO PAULO, Brazil (P)—A new all-time construction record for this growing city was set when, from January through September, 5190 buildings went up, compared with 4592 in 1934.

There are about 40 species of junipers.

SHOTS FIRED AT BURGLAR IN ORANGE

Escaping through a fusillade of three shots and eluding a posse of private citizens and police officers, a much wanted burglar slipped to freedom yesterday morning in an exciting chase through Orange and the surrounding foothill area.

The man, described as being 30 years of age and well dressed, was discovered in the dental office of Dr. C. M. Baker in the Orange Savings Bank building. Dr. Baker grabbed a .22 caliber target pistol and fired three times as the man fled down the front entrance of the building.

The man ran east on Chapman avenue to his automobile parked on Orange street. Edward Bertmann, a baker, began trailing him in his car and followed him to El Modena and then to Villa Park. He stopped at both places to telephone Assistant Chief of Police G. W. Coltraine of Orange, who in the meantime was directing Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford of Santa Ana and California Highway Patrolman John Thornton on a blockade. Coltraine joined the chase, but the fugitive apparently escaped southward on Tustin avenue.

The fugitive is assertedly wanted in Anaheim, Santa Ana, Madera, San Francisco and Orange. He is reported to have burglarized Dr. Baker's office last March, stealing a quantity of dental gold. Officer Coltraine said he had committed other crimes of a similar nature in the other cities.

The man was driving a 1928 model car, the license number of which was obtained. Dr. Baker's shots apparently did not take effect.

he held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the Labor temple, for the purpose of outlining a stand on the election. Speakers from the water conservation headquarters will attend, and an opportunity will be given for a forum discussion of the merits of the proposition.

First of a series of farm center meetings with water as its general subject will be held Thursday evening in the Villa Park Social hall, by the Foothill Farm center. W. H. Spurgeon, chairman of the citizens flood control and water committee, will discuss the bond issue.

A picked corps of canvassers went out today for the first of a 10-day "get-the-vote-out" campaign, in which virtually every Orange county voter will be contacted and asked to vote on Dec. 19.

Chairman Ed Hall of the campaign workers committee today expressed confidence that "the bonds will be passed if we can get the voters to the polls, and the facts of the case before the people."

TO REPEL PLANES

NANKING (P)—Should hostile planes ever raid the Chinese capital they would be met by anti-aircraft fire from numerous and unsuspected spots. Many a burial grove and tree sheltered shrine in the low hills within and around the ancient walls provides natural and effective camouflage for the guns.

DUCE IGNORES PROPOSALS OF PEACE

By the Associated Press
Premier Mussolini told the Italian senate today that "Italian interests, both African and European, will be defended strenuously."

His 50-word address, heard also by the cabinet and representatives of the royal house, came after France and Great Britain were said to have formed a "united front" in demanding that Il Duce show his hand in his war with Ethiopia.

Silent On Peace

The Fascist chief made no mention of a peace plan reported to have been reached between France and Britain, which, an authoritative London source said, would be considered by the British cabinet at an extraordinary session.

The proposals—understood to have been transmitted in substance to Mussolini already—encompassed Italy's holding part of the territory already conquered near the borders of its East African colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland, while Ethiopia would be given a port in Eritrea.

A Reuters (British) dispatch from Addis Ababa said unofficial reports related 850 Ethiopians and 700 Italian Somalis were killed in a battle north of Dolo, on the southern front.

All Belgian officers connected with the Ethiopian army turned in their resignations today in Addis Ababa because of a clash of views with the Ethiopian officials, threatening to leave soon unless the dispute was settled.

Government sources said four Italian planes flew over Dessay, field headquarters of Emperor Haile Selassie, again today, but dropped no bombs.

DEATH TAKES G. C. ABBOTT

The man who administered the court of love, hills, friendship, bad tidings and good news for Westminster for a quarter of a century, died Saturday in Orange.

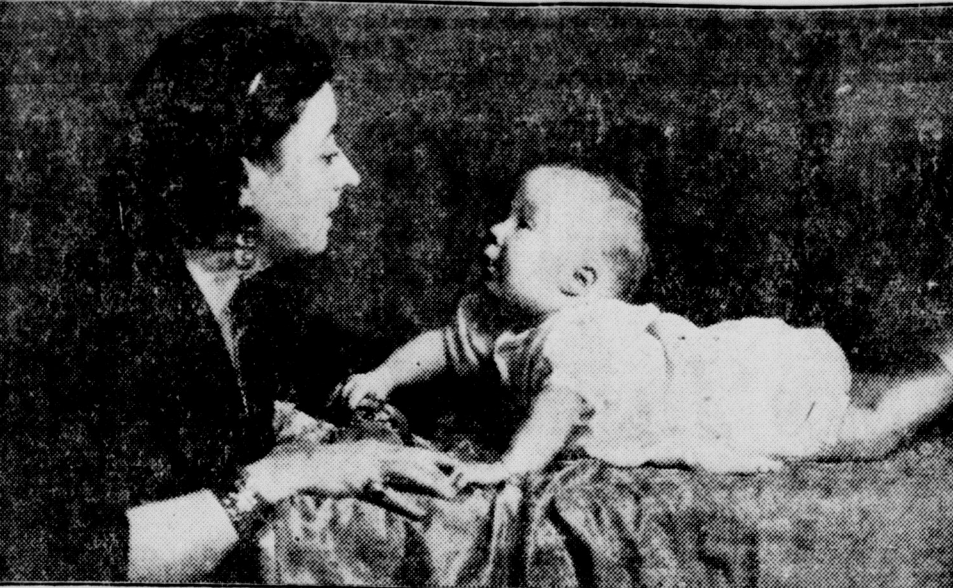

George C. Abbott, 77, for 25 years postmaster of Westminster, prior to 1930, was mourned today by scores of friends throughout Orange county.

He had been ill for about three weeks. Born in West Union, Ia., he came to California 55 years ago and lived in Westminster for 35 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna C. Abbott; daughters, Mrs. Charles Farr, Westminster; Mrs. Alma Davis and Mrs. Mattie Wilson, Los Angeles; three nephews, Ed Abbott, Glendale; Will Abbott, Garden Grove, and Roy Andre, Westmoreland, Imperial county, besides several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock from the Win-bigger mortuary. The Rev. Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate. Mrs. Cecile Fross Willits will sing. Services at Santa Ana cemetery will be under direction of Westminster Odd Fellows lodge, No. 72, of which he was a long-time member. He also belonged to the Modern Woodmen's Association and the Rebekah lodge of Westminster.

MAYOR CAN POUND HARDER MORATORIUM Given Lignum Vitae Block

Mayor Fred C. Rowland in the future will be able to pound the official gavel on the official council table with all the official ardor he wishes without fear of scarring the surface of the new table. Here's the reason:

Last week, Harry V. Hanson, manager of the General Paint corporation store, presented Mayor

Rowland with a block of lignum vitae on which to do his pounding. On the side of the block is a silver plaque bearing the inscription, "Fred C. Rowland from Harry V. Hanson—In Token of Admiration."

Lignum vitae is one of the hardest and heaviest types of wood available.

WILLARD GLEE CLUBS STAGE MUSICAL PROGRAM

Willard Junior High school glee clubs presented musical antics Friday night in the Willard auditorium when the girls' glee club presented a one-act operetta, "The Nifty Shop," and the boys' glee club a mock ballet, "The Lollipop Chorus."

A crowded house of parents and friends composed the audience. Henry Segerstrom was master of ceremonies for the boys' chorus presentation.

Miss Esther Jean Davis and Miss Helen Glancy directed the productions. Miss Mary Boyd, Miss Mary Jean Fowler and Miss Joanna Overman played the accompaniments.

PLAN 'ACRE HUNT' FOR LOST DOMAIN

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 9 (P)—Texas plans a hunt for some of her lost acres.

Somewhere along the line, it was estimated, 6,000,000 acres of public domain have been lost in the state's vast area. It is proposed to recheck Texas real estate through a federal works relief project, now tentatively approved.

With oil discoveries, vacant Texas land has assumed added importance.

'FARMER' SOLD FOR $1,013,000

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 9 (P)—The James M. Pierce corporation bought the real estate and personal property of the Wallace Publishing company at a sheriff's sale Saturday for $1,013,000.

The sale was to satisfy a mortgage given in 1930 when the Wallace company contracted to buy the Iowa Homestead, a farm paper of the late James M. Pierce. The Wallace Publishing Co., publisher of the Wallace's Farmer, was developed by Henry Wallace, grandfather of Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

FALL STRICKEN BY PNEUMONIA

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 9 (P)—Bronchial pneumonia has developed in the lower left lung of Albert E. Fall, 74, former secretary of the interior, hospital officials announced today. His condition is serious.

Two daughters, Mrs. J. J. Elliott and Mrs. C. C. Chase, were at the hospital, where their father has been a patient several weeks.

MARKET PACT HELD PRICE 'SAVER'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (P)—The farm administration said Saturday large crops of California and Arizona oranges and grapefruit now in prospect would tend toward low prices to growers in the absence of a marketing control program.

The statement came as growers in the two states were voting on a revised marketing pact.

"These prospective large crops of oranges and grapefruit, without control of the volume marketed, may be expected," the AAA said, "to result in low prices and returns to growers unless consumer demand increases to a level at which such large crops can be moved into consumption at favorable prices to growers."

AAA said growers' income under the existing agreement "has shown material improvement."

Income from the 1933-34 crop was reported to have exceeded by $12,200,000 the value of the preceding crop. The "largest crop on record" was marketed during the 1934-35 season "without over-supplying markets and unduly depressing prices and lowering their returns."

TALKS AGAINST BONDS LISTED

Announcement of a speakers' bureau of the Associated Water Users of Orange county, members of which will go on the air to appeal to the voters of Orange county to defeat the $6,620,000 water bond issue on Dec. 19, was made today.

A. J. Cricklishank, Santa Ana banker, will be chairman of the bureau, and other members are William Iverson, C. Roy Browning, George C. Randall, Cecil Robinson, J. F. Burke, A. J. McFadden, Mrs. J. T. Van Why, Mrs. Robert J. White and H. G. Heiler.

Time on radio station KREG has been procured for every day, starting Dec. 10 and including Dec. 18, at which time radio addresses advising against voting for the bonds will be made.

The addresses will be heard from 6:15 to 6:30 p. m. on Dec. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 17. On Dec. 18 there will be an address delivered at 7:15 p. m., and on both Dec. 17 and 18 talks will be made over the air for the benefit of the Spanish speaking voters of the county.

FLEET TO PRACTICE
SAN PEDRO, Dec. 9 (P)—Battleships of the United States fleet moved to sea today for four days of annual long range gunnery fire. Tiring will take place on the drill grounds 40 to 60 miles off the coast.

WOMAN, 89, SUICIDE

HOLLISTER, Dec. 9. (P)—Dependent over ill health and harboring the illusion that she never was going to die, Mrs. Mary de Vailla Freitas, 89, mother of seven children, hanged herself from the upright of a tractor seat at her home in the San Juan valley.

Here and There With

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

HUNTINGTON BEACH'S post-office dedication ceremony was a great success Saturday. Looked as though everyone in the surrounding territory had put on the Sunday clothes and attended—visiting notables were so numerous that the stage was overflowing with 'em.

We enjoyed the ceremony very much, but enjoyed more the little happenings, the behind-the-stage occurrences which weren't on the program, but which were appreciated, anyway.

Like the potted palms, for instance.

Someone had gone to a lot of trouble with those decorations. They'd placed two large vases, about three feet high, on each side of the doorway to the new building. In the vases were beautiful long palm branches—special ones, looked like, because they were colored differently than any we'd seen.

Anyway, there were the potted palms. Alongside them was the speaker's platform. We were trying to keep one hopeful eye on the palms and the other on the speaker, who was L. W. Blodgett of Santa Ana, when we saw the green fronds nestled lovingly around the postmaster's chair and arms and head, and the unusually polite crowd just couldn't stifle one or two behind-the-hand giggles.

Helpful neighbors sorted Ed out of what appeared to be a bramble bush of sorts, and the meeting went right along, as if nothing'd happened.

And then there was the remark made when Mayor Tom Talbert arrived on the speaker's platform.

Tom arrived to the accompaniment of cheers, such as a popular mayor usually receives.

And someone remarked that the mayor'd better watch his step—he was due to sit on a Democratic platform for a long time.

Congressman Sam Collins, Speaker Ted Craig and Senator N. T. Edwards all sent regrets—which reminded us of the two young fellows parked nearby wondering which of the arrivals was the congressman. They argued about several potential lawmakers, but both finally settled on one of the visiting postmasters—we didn't get his name—as Congressman Collins.

When Hamilton H. Cotton arrived in a great big automobile, they decided that he was the congressman, and never gave up wondering and worrying until they discovered that Sam wasn't present. Then they both felt better.

The postoffice affair was a notable affair, due to lots of hard work by those in charge. The parade was a fine one—it had most parades beaten in one way—the march was over, participants immediately became the audience for the cornerstone ceremony.

"Twas a good way to assure a crowd for the speakers, even though they didn't have to take any such steps. There were plenty of people on hand.

John T. Africa, master of ceremonies at the affair, likes loud-colored socks—he even specializes in 'em, we're told, so we were all set for him with a most authoritative yellow pair of our own.

It was all fine until Major John displayed his latest sartorial pride. There wasn't any method of telling what color those socks were—they started in with purple, or maybe it was red, and dashed dizzily from one color to the next until awe-stricken spectators protected their eyes, much like mountaineers do when afraid of snow-blindness. Or something.

Anyway, he had the loudest socks.

Notes to you: Judge C. P. Patten is one of the best reminiscers we've seen. He can tell lots of things that've happened in Huntington Beach—and also other places, and make 'em interesting.

... D. W. "Boxie" Huston was a busy man, welcoming everyone to the ceremony Saturday. ... Will Gallienne was a vision, a well-tailored splendor. Even to the pussywillow in his buttonhole. ... M. M. McCallam claimed to be John T. Africa's boss and threatened dire things about the lurid socks, until we intervened. ... The Masons' cornerstone rites were very impressive and everyone enjoyed 'em.

MRS. McCAY HAS MIDWAY CITY PARTY

MIDWAY CITY.—Mrs. M. E. McKay was hostess at a luncheon followed by two tables of contract bridge, recently.

Her guests were Mrs. Maurice Price, Mrs. N. A. Nelson, Mrs. R. P. Meairs, Mrs. Chester Campbell, Mrs. S. A. Miller, Mrs. Bert Heath and Mrs. P. H. Marshall.

Mrs. Price was awarded high score prize and Mrs. Heath received consolation.

Cornerstone Is Set With Masonic Rites; Crowd Witnesses Parade

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—With Rollie W. Miller, grand master of the Masonic lodge for California, officiating, impressive cornerstone-setting ceremonies were held at the new $57,000 postoffice building here Saturday afternoon.

A large crowd attended the parade, cornerstone rites and dedication ceremony. Many community organizations joined in the march from Memorial hall through the business district to the new structure, where flag-raising ceremonies, in charge of Roy F. Patrick, local commander, opened the program.

Charles W. Pfaffenberger, San Francisco, postoffice inspector in charge, told historical data of the local postoffice and others nearby in his dedicatory address. He brought greetings from Postmaster General James Farley, Governor Frank Merriam and others. Congressman Sam Collins, Speaker Ted Craig and Senator N. T. Edwards were unable to be present.

Hamilton H. Cotton, democratic leader, spoke briefly on dedication of the new structure, concluding his talk with an appeal for acceptance of federal funds for water conservation and flood control work.

"If people in this community haven't enough sense to accept this grant, I feel sorry for them," he concluded.

L. W. Blodgett, Santa Ana attorney, gave a dedicatory address, telling historical facts. Greetings were extended by Mayor T. B. Talbert and D. E. Berry, chamber of commerce president. Postmaster J. Ed Huston introduced his staff and visiting postmasters. John Africa was master of ceremonies.

The Rotary club quartette and R. K. Smith furnished musical numbers during the program with Mrs. Jack Colvin accompanying. The beach band played several selections during the program and was joined by the SERA band for the parade.

BEACH GROUP PLANS BAZAR

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The American Legion auxiliary will open a colorful "Rainbow bazar" in Memorial hall tomorrow. The public has been invited to search for a pot of gold hidden at the end of the rainbow, it is announced by Mrs. Anita Washburn, chairman. Proceeds will be used in welfare work.

Doors will open at 10 a. m. There will be booths for fancy work, aprons, cooked foods and articles made by war veterans.

An afternoon tea will be held from 2 to 4 p. m., and a Fashion Show will last until 8 p. m.

A card party will begin at 8:15 o'clock. Hostesses in the evening will be Mrs. K. Allen, president of the auxiliary; Mrs. Maude Patrick, wife of Commander R. F. Patrick; and Mrs. Vera Barry, president of the country council.

Mrs. Marie Benningdorf and Mrs. Marie Rampton will be hostesses at the tea.

COSTA MESA.—One hundred children's voices will be raised in a Christmas pageant, the "Nativity," to be presented at the Community church at 4 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 22.

Mrs. R. M. Erbe, music teacher at the elementary school, is training the children and Henry Abrams, principal of the school, is assisting with the community project.

FEELS FINE TO BE 100!

Orange Woman Has Birthday

ORANGE.—How does it feel to be 100 years old?

Mrs. Julia A. Goss says it feels great. For weeks she has ticked off each day on the calendar, until Dec. 1, when she said to her daughter, Miss Elsie Goss, with whom she lives, "Well, I think I will live until Saturday!" For on Saturday, Dec. 7, she reached her goal of 100 years.

But Sunday found Mrs. Goss just as happy, and in many respects better physically, according to her daughter, and none the worse for 56 callers who visited her the day before.

Mrs. Goss came to Orange 12 years ago from Whittier, where she had lived for many years. She was born in Ryegate, Vt. At present she is bedfast, due to a hip injury suffered three years ago, but she is happy and cheerful and able to repeat whole chapters of the Bible from memory. Open house was held during the afternoon Saturday, and many beautiful baskets of flowers, messages and gifts were received.

Refreshments of birthday cake, ice cream and chocolate were served the guests. The cake bore the inscription, "1835-1935, Birthday Mother," and was a gift from an adopted daughter, Miss Eva Goss, Los Angeles.

MIDWAY GROUP PLAN FETE AT CAPISTRANO

MIDWAY CITY.—Members of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the Community church enjoyed a party Friday night at the home of their supervisor, Mrs. Fred Foley.

Present were Geraldine Logan, Ralph Furey, Dick Miller, Maribel Jones, Harvey Arnett, Bob Pritchard, Patricia Heath, Ted Hazard, Eugene Davies, Forest Hart, Doris Jean Foley, Raymond Borgeson, Lavern Ragle, Kenneth Slonecker, Maurice Holley, Leon Thompson, Patricia Joyce, Elvada Irwin, Dale Hill, Donald Hall, Neil Foley, Florence Dale, Eileen Borgeson, Emmaetta Hart and the Rev. and Mrs. C. N. Jones.

The annual Christmas luncheon of the Needlecraft club and the Neighborhood Bridge club will be held at the home of Mrs. Bert Heath on Wednesday.

YULE PROGRAM CLUB'S PLAN

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—An All-Christmas program will be featured at the Huntington Beach Woman's club tomorrow.

The Rev. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, Santa Ana, will talk on a Christmas subject at 2:30 p. m. Christmas music will be given by the girls' octette of the high school, and instrumental music will be played by a trio from the elementary school at 3:30 p. m. Mrs. Ruth Harlow will be in charge of the high school music, and Miss Van Horn of elementary school music.

PENSION BOARD MEETING SET

WESTMINSTER.—The board of directors of the Townsend club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Chamberlain, on Westminster avenue Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

At the last regular meeting of the club, seven members were added to the club membership. They were Armand Hill, P. A. Lawrence, Mrs. Myrtle Knouse, Mrs. Leora Knouse, Everett Hylton, and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Clark.

Chamber of commerce members hold a regular meeting this evening at the library building, and will listen to a further discussion of electric signs.

ORANGE TEAMS ARE HONORED

ORANGE.—One of the outstanding social events of the high school year took place Saturday night when the Girls' Athletic association entertained members of the varsity and "B" football teams with a banquet in the school cafeteria.

More than 200 guests were seated at small tables, each centered with a miniature Hawaiian scene, favors were gay leis and hand-painted closed shells, each enclosing a fortune. Indirect lighting around the sides of the room, behind banana trees, gave an effect of Hawaiian moonlight. Grace Adams, Carl Crouch and their helpers were in charge of the decorations.

Miss June Watson, president of the G. A. A., welcomed guests, and Lawrence Todd, captain of the football team, gave the response.

Miss Maryesther Wood, program chairman, was introduced, and announced program numbers. Eleanor Korkhorst, Mary Tom Cox and Janice Winget sang three numbers and throughout dinner a Hawaiian trio led by Russell Thompson, Santa Ana, furnished music.

Members of the school board, A. Haven Smith, principal of the high school; M. M. Fishback, vice principal; Coaches Stewart M. White and H. C. Chambers were introduced. Two guests, Bill Stephenson, president of the Whittier High school student body, and Prince Rusk, captain of their team, were also extended a welcome. Whittier was the winner of the Southern California conference championship.

Morris Singer, University of Redlands, was speaker of the evening, choosing the subject of his experiences as an exchange student last year at the University of Hawaii.

MIDWAY LAND DEALS TOLD

MIDWAY CITY.—Several real estate deals were completed last week, including sale of two houses. Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Miller purchased a house at 232 Monroe street, and will take possession of their new home as soon as it is vacated.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hyatt of Central City, Neb. are new owners of a residence at 208 South Jackson street, and expect to make Midway City their home.

Harold Robertson has purchased a lot on Jackson street, directly back of his home on Van Buren street.

BRIDGE CLUB HAS OLIVE MEETING

OLIVE.—Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brejle entertained members of their bridge club at their home Saturday evening. Mrs. George Lemke and Emil Lemke received high awards at cards, and consolation was won by August Kahlen.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. William F. Paulus, Mr. and Mrs. George Lemke, Mr. and Mrs. William Gollin, Mr. and Mrs. August Kahlen and Mrs. Martin Heman.

The Gateways Sewing club met at the home of Mrs. William Gollin recently, with Mrs. Edwin Brejle, Mrs. William F. Paulus, Mrs. Emil Lemke, Mrs. George Lemke, Mrs. Ray Meierhoff, Mrs. Harold Meier, Mrs. Fred Guenther, Jr., Mrs. Edward Guenther, Mrs. Rude Heman, Mrs. August Kahlen and Miss Florence Heim present.

The Gilyak people of Sakhalin formerly worshipped the bear.

H. W. ROHL ELECTED HEAD CLUB FEATURES LADIES' NIGHT

NEWPORT BEACH.—H. W. Rohl, connected with building of jetties in the harbor development program, was elected commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht club at the annual election dinner-meeting held at the club Saturday night.

William Bartholomae, Balboa, sailing champion in the six-meter class, is the new vice commodore; Shirley Meserve, Los Angeles attorney, rear commodore, and Leon S. Heesman, Riverside, secretary-treasurer for the 19th year. Directors are K. L. Carver and V. O. Woolle, Los Angeles; Felix Farwell, Pasadena, and J. A. Jardine, Balboa.

Retiring directors are James A. Webster, George E. Vibert and W. C. Evans.

The board of directors on Sunday made plans for a huge Christmas regatta to be staged Dec. 27, 28 and 29. Invitations are being issued to all Pacific Coast Yachtsmen to enter six and eight meters, P. C.'s stars and dinghies in the first inner harbor races of the kind ever held here, and made possible through the $2,000,000 harbor work.

A New Year dinner-dance will be given Dec. 28, and all contestants will be guests of the club. Jim Webster is chairman of the regatta.

LOUELLA DIXON IS HOME

Knife Relieves Paralysis

COSTA MESA.—Louella Dixon, 18-year-old girl who recently underwent a critical brain operation in a Los Angeles hospital, is home again. She is looking forward to the happiest Christmas in her life as she is recovering from her operation and the ravages of paralysis.

She can wiggle the toes of her right foot now, the first time since she became paralyzed following a fall. Her speech is greatly improved and her mouth is again straightened out and a twinkle has returned to her brown eyes, her mother happily announced today as Louella sat gaily chatting with callers. Los Angeles specialists will place the crippled right hand in splints and it is expected that treatments will fully restore use of the hand again.

Louella is anxious to get well and work to help her parents pay the balance of the $1000 hospital and doctor bill. At a benefit given at the local high school by many organizations under the leadership of S. H. Davidson, principal of the school, $350 was raised, which made the brain operation possible.

GROVE PARTY SERIES ENDS

GARDEN GROVE.—The last of a series of card parties was given by the W. E. C. at Legion hall recently, with grand prizes for the series going to Mrs. Henrietta Hilton, Stanton, in bridge, and to Conrad Schroff for "500," and a hope chest to Mrs. L. Chatham, Long Beach.

Prizes in bridge for the last party went to George Merriam, Orange, high score; Mrs. Ella Laughlin, Stanton, low score, and in "500" to Mrs. Conrad Schroff, high, and Miss Kathryn Glaes, low.

Party Honors O. E. S. Heads

GARDEN GROVE.—Orange county matrons of Order of Eastern Star in 1935 were entertained at luncheon Friday by Mrs. B. R. Day, Gilbert road.

Guests were Mrs. Jean Trueblood, Hermosa chapter, Santa Ana, the sponsor of the group; Mrs. Irene Mitchell, also of Hermosa; Mrs. Florence Wright, Santa Ana chapter; Mrs. Carrie Johnson, La Habra, and Mrs. Stella Schultz, Ami Tai chapter, Fullerton.

CLUB SECTION BAZAR TOLD

COSTA MESA.—The art section of the Friday Afternoon Woman's club will hold a Christmas bazar and cafeteria dinner at the clubhouse tomorrow.

Many kinds of fancy work and needle work made by women of the art section during the year will be displayed. Miss Alice Plummer is general chairman and Mrs. R. M. Erbe chairman of the art section.

PARTY HONORS OLIVE RESIDENT

OLIVE.—Mrs. Alfred Trapp entertained with a surprise party Saturday evening honoring her daughter, Grace, on her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent playing games, with Miss Helen Mollica receiving first prize and Miss Donna Feemster, low. Present were Mrs. Edna Culley, Mrs. Lucille Halley, Miss Helen Mollica, Miss Donna Feemster and Miss Olga Kraemer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Johnson have returned to their home in San Jose after spending several weeks with their daughter, Mrs. Henry Lemke, and family. Warren Lemke, their grandson, returned with them to remain until Christmas vacation.

VET. 83, GETS ANNULMENT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9. (AP)—A "kissless bridegroom" for six weeks, William L. Kimberly, 83, Civil war veteran, has won an annulment of his marriage.

NEWPORT BEACH.—Residents of the Newport Harbor district have started plans in earnest to carry out the most elaborate program of Christmas illumination and decoration ever attempted here, it became known today.

Competition is keen as workers endeavor to capture prizes offered as awards in each of the five districts into which the harbor area is divided.

New One for Lutz

Football Nomads

Dotted Copy

It seems impossible at this writing that Santa Ana's Larry Lutz can escape mention by the two top all-American pickers—Collier's and the All-American board. Named on the Associated Press first string Saturday, Lutz was given a signal honor, for the A. P. selection commands high respect. Today Larry was new if minor honors. H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, head coach of Princeton's unbeaten and untied football team, named the iron tackle of the Golden Bears on his mythical selection.

Of the cry heard that California college football has lost ground. That it doesn't stand up in intercollegiate competition as it once did. Coaches, forced to recognize this fact after a hectic season, have looked the situation over and decided to do something about it.

This year nearly 100 athletes from the Golden State cavorted on a score or more grid teams outside the commonwealth's boundaries—and with singular success. Most of these go-away-from-home players traveled to the North West this season as in other years, but the East, Middle West, South and Rocky Mountain regions also profited.

Oregon topped the stack with 15 California players, followed by Oregon State with nine. Others who gratefully received from California were Princeton, Yale, Army, Navy, Temple, Mississippi, Chicago, Cincinnati, Utah State, Idaho, Montana, Washington, Washington State, Gonzaga, Arizona and West Virginia.

A little scrutiny of these nomadic athletes shows that Bill Shuler, captain and all-American end at Army, was probably the most outstanding. Others are Rivers Morrell, guard and captain-elect at Navy; Dav Szaibriski, guard at Navy; Ray Hapner, Grove lad who became one of the nation's leading scorers at Mississippi; Ed Goddard, all-coast quarterback back at Washington State; Jerry Roscoe, quarterback at Yale; Hugh McMillan, Princeton end; Merritt Bush, Chicago tackle; Wayne Valley, Oregon State fullback; and Ray Lopez, Oregon halfback.

Unhappy at riding in the rear seat, coaches, alumni and fans will band together to keep California players at home if the football glory that once was historic in this state is to be recaptured.

Short Stuff: Mickey Cochrane, fond of flitting about via airplane, has been grounded by Walter O. Briggs, new owner of the Detroit Tigers. Tony Canzoneri has been offered $20,000 to fight Harry Mizzler in England and Manager Sammy Goldman is hesitating. Navy Bill Ingram, who used to coach the Bears, cried real tears in the dressing room after the Stanford-California game, we're told.

Add justified strikes: The Washington university band walked out last week, demanding to know why the football players got all the scholarships while they were tooting their heads off. Joe Medwick tells scribes he has to think twice before spelling his real name, which is Modiewicz.

Santa Ana's starting lineup found Bill Sennacher and Harold Short at end, Bob Reid and Jim Crowther at tackle, Ferris Wall and Joe Crawford at guard, Jack Robinson at center, Mac Beal at quarterback, Carroll Joy and Warren Mann at the halves, and Minoru Nitta at fullback. Substitutes taking a leading part were Capt. Erwin Youel, Bill Musick, Elden Richards, Lyle Moyer, Jack Schilling, Vernon Carney, Len Stafford, Harold Tucker, Norman Garrett and Walt Oapp.

SANTA ANANS CHECK LOOP CHAMPIONS

Six Thousand Fans See Long Beach Carnival Of Prep Squads

Warmly applauded by an appreciative audience of 6000 fans, the Coast Preparatory league's first annual sports carnival met with howling success on Burcham field, Long Beach, Saturday. The festivities, novel and highly entertaining, were climaxed by Santa Ana and San Diego of the south, whose combined talent upset Long Beach and Alhambra of the north, 12 to 8, in the featured event—football.

Checking the steamroller tactics of Long Beach Poly's champions, W. W. (Bill) Foote's Saints fought Orian Landreth's Jackrabbits to a surprising 0-0 standstill in the first quarter, and returned in the third period to check up a 6-0 triumph over Alhambra.

Santa Ana's teammate, San Diego, bested Alhambra 6-2 in the second quarter, and protected the south's 12-2 lead in the final session by holding Long Beach to one touchdown, thereby defeating the north 12-8.

Santa Ana's defensive play and occasional outbursts on offense led to the south's victory.

Moors Score Safety

The Saints had Long Beach back on its 15-yard line when play in the first quarter ended. San Diego and Alhambra took the field at this point, and Fullback Beidler of the Moors punted out of bounds on the 43. It was long before Alhambra penetrated deep into San Diego territory. The Moors blocked a Hiller punt, and tackled Quarterback Munkelt behind the goal for a safety.

With the north leading 2-0, San Diego put on a scoring drive with three rapid aerials that carried the ball from the Hillers' 44 to Alhambra's 6-yard line. On fourth down the ball was inches from the goal, and Benia shot a diagonal pass to Howell, left end, for the first touchdown of the game. Zimmerman's conversion kick was wide.

Score on Alhambra
Santa Ana increased the 6-2 lead by scoring early on Alhambra at the beginning of the second half. Don Kennedy, end, returned the kick-off to his 43. Joy made 4, Mann 6, and Musick 4 for a first down to Alhambra's 43. Beal lateraled to Joy to the 40, Mann clicked left end for 5 yards, and on third down plunged over center for 6 yards to the 29. Joy tried a fake reverse for a yard, and Musick dashed over guard for 14 yards to the 14. Mann and Musick gained nine, and Beal tossed a beautiful lateral to Joy, who ran 5 yards to cross the goal line standing up. Mann missed the conversion.

Santa Ana's starting lineup found Bill Sennacher and Harold Short at end, Bob Reid and Jim Crowther at tackle, Ferris Wall and Joe Crawford at guard, Jack Robinson at center, Mac Beal at quarterback, Carroll Joy and Warren Mann at the halves, and Minoru Nitta at fullback. Substitutes taking a leading part were Capt. Erwin Youel, Bill Musick, Elden Richards, Lyle Moyer, Jack Schilling, Vernon Carney, Len Stafford, Harold Tucker, Norman Garrett and Walt Oapp.

New Outbreak Looms Over Berlin Olympics

A. A. U. VOTES SUPPORT OF U. S. TEAM

Amateur Group Pledges Support But Battle Is Far From Over

NEW YORK, Dec. 9. (P)—American athletes today had been assured American Amateur Athletic union sanction in the Berlin Olympic games. The 47th annual convention of the United States A. A. U. yesterday overcame boycott intentions and voted participation in the 1936 games but delegates to the meeting knew that the war was by no means ended.

Although irrevocably pledged to go through with the American Olympic program, the A. A. U. nevertheless remained split wide open, stirred by religious as well as racial controversy. It threatens to curtail sharply this country's part in the 11th Olympiad.

Compromise Loses
Proof was promptly forthcoming that neither oratorical gains nor ballots killed off the main issue yesterday, when the closing session of the A. A. U. convention turned down, 34 to 35, a compromise proposal to send a fact-finding commission of three men to Germany before going ahead with American plans to compete.

Subsequent unopposed adoption of a resolution supporting the Olympics, qualified only by a strong denunciation of the Nazi government's athletic policies, merely widened the breach within the ranks of the A. A. U. delegates.

Mahoney Is Angry
Jeremiah T. Mahoney, New York, who yielded the A. A. U. presidency to Avery Brundage, Chicago, head of the American Olympic committee, after witnessing the defeat of all his effort to keep the organization out of the Olympics, declared in effect that he has "just begun to fight."

Resigning from the Olympic executive committee, Mahoney said he would continue "the fight against American participation in the games in Germany... as the only way of preserving the Olympic ideal."

He charged the American Olympic committee was afraid to "face the facts" concerning existing conditions in Germany and called for undiminished opposition to holding the games under Nazi auspices.

Samuel K. MacCabe, chairman of the "Move the Olympics" committee, refused to admit defeat, declared the "very close vote is a mandate to continue the fight to prove that sportsmanship is bigger than sport," and indicated the movement for a counter "Olympiad" in 1936 had gained impetus by the A. A. U. action.

MacCabe suggested that those opposed to participation in the games in Germany might sponsor an international set of athletic games in the United States next year, designed to rival the actual Olympics.

Brundage hailed the outcome of the A. A. U. battle as a "victory for the amateur athletes of America."

How the Mustangs of S.M.U. Got Started

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of three stories on the 20 years of football at Southern Methodist university, selected to play Stanford university in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, New Year's day.)

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 9. (P)—Twenty years ago curly-thatched, young Ray Morrison gathered 25 gangling huskies around him, issued the nose and shin guards, and football was born on the Southern Methodist campus.

It was a weak infant that Morrison, fresh from quarterbacking the Vanderbilt university commodores, struggled with through a six-game schedule.

Then They Met Rice
And just one year later—the 1916 season Southern Methodist fans would rather not mention—the founding of the school's sports program toppled up against Rice institute.

The big game between the Methodists and the Institute—with about 500 fans in attendance—opened with one Sam Merrill sending a mighty dropkick through the crossbar to put the Methodists ahead 3-0.

The Institute took the next kick-off and as one sports chronicler relates, "started sweeping end runs." They swept to 22 touchdowns.

Final score, Rice, 145; Southern Methodist, 3.

THREE CHAMPIONS REMAIN IN CLUB GOLF TOURNEY

Champion will play champion this week, as the Santa Ana Country club's annual open golf tournament goes into the semifinals.

Dick Ewert, defending king of the Newport boulevard links, matches strokes with Eddie Holmes, former champion of the club, while F. E. Farnsworth, another ex-title holder, seeks to eliminate a highly respected challenger, Milt E. Johnson. The two survivors clash in the finals next week.

B. V. Curry, W. W. (Bill) Foote, R. E. Chapman and H. S. Wright fell in the quarter-finals the past week.

Johnson and Farnsworth not only remained in the titular race, but won Saturday's best ball weekstakes with a score of 71-7-64. Runners-up were C. W. Jordan and Ed Holmes, 73-8-65.

Results in the championship and first flights follow:

Championship Flight
Dick Ewert defeated B. V. Curry, 2 up; 1. D. Holmes def. J. E. Liebig, 2 up; 2. Jack Colburn def. Dr. A. H. Dammann, 2 and 1; 3. Don Harwood def. Roy Langley, 3 and 2; 4. E. H. Guthrie def. H. E. With Orange county fans backing him to the hilt, Lupe Cordoza, 118-pound whirlwind, goes into the finals of the Southern California Golden Gloves boxing tournament in Hollywood tonight heavily favored to come home with championship honors for the Orange County Athletic club.

Cordoza, Southern Pacific A. A. U. champion, has gone through the simon-pure title quest at the Hollywood tournament in waltz time and while he is slated to meet Jimmy King, Sherman institute threat, few expect him to have any trouble in plucking the victor's crown.

Lupe is a Pomona boy but is fighting under the colors of the county club and is a regular performer at the highway 101 arena on Thursday nights.

DON AND SAINT CAGERS BUSY

Saints and Dons of Santa Ana High school and Junior college today plunged into perhaps the busiest week on their 1935-36 basketball program.

An inter-class tournament will occupy the time of the Saints until Thursday afternoon, when they journey to Whittier High school for a warm-up game. Reece Greene's prep face Bill Cole's Tustin varsity in Andrews gym Friday afternoon.

The sophomores were to play the juniors in inter-class competition at 3 p. m. today. The seniors and juniors will clash tomorrow night, and sophomores and seniors Wednesday afternoon.

Alvin Reboin, coach of the Dons, announced today that he has scheduled the Long Beach Security basketball five for Wednesday night in the high school gym. Oceanside Junior college plays Santa Ana here Friday night. A scrimmage with the U. S. C. freshmen, slated tomorrow, has been called off, along with a regular game with the Trobables Jan. 25. The U. C. L. A. freshmen have been scheduled instead, and will play here Dec. 25, Reboin said.

TRAIN FOR CONCLAVE

CHICAGO, Dec. 9. (P)—Major league baseball men, officials, club owners and managers, were limbering up leg muscles today and testing the direction of trade winds, in preparation for the opening of the annual winter meeting tomorrow. The leg exercises were training moves for hours of standing in hotel lobbies and hustling back and forth between hotels.

The latter game, in which St. Mary's rolled up an 18-0 victory, was played yesterday in Kezar stadium where the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian virtually passed Santa Clara dizzy the previous day.

Passes for Score
A Texas Christian quick kick paved the way for the Frogs' first score but a few minutes after the game opened. The ball was recovered by Texas Christian on the Bronco's 4-yard line. Baugh rifled a pass to McClure for a touchdown.

Santa Clara scored in the same period when Duttin, left end, caught a Texas Christian fumble in the air, raced 50 yards and then lateraled to Dowd, sub right end, who went over for a score.

Easy for Gaels
St. Mary's had little trouble in downing the game University of Oregon team. Stu Gael sub halfback, scampered 67 yards on a reverse in the second period for the first touchdown.

An intercepted pass on Oregon's 28-yard line paved the way for a second touchdown in the fourth quarter. Scriber, left half, plunged over from the five-yard line a few plays later.

All-Conference Merle Harris, sterling quarterback, paced the Riversiders to the association's highest honor by (1) kicking a 40-yard field goal, (2) circling left end for 49 yards and a touchdown, and (3) tossing a 20-yard touchdown pass to Ben Thompson, all-conference end. All of the scoring came in the final quarter, including Ventura's pair of touchdowns. One of Ventura's scoring plays consisted of a forward and two lateral passes and a 50-yard run for a total gain of 77 yards.

Brother Bengal came out of his trophy-filled den for the final time at Riverside Saturday to climax his 1935 efforts with a hair-raising 16-13 victory over Ventura's inspired Pirates, Western division champions, who rose to unexpected heights to extend Jesse Mortensen's Eastern conference band.

Jiu-Jitsu Battle Tops Wrestling Program at Highway Arena

By FRANK ROGERS
Journal Sports Editor
Wrestling takes a refreshing tack tonight as Promoter Sam Sampson presents two three-fall bouts and a couple of minor riots at the Orange County Athletic club arena on highway 101.

High spot of the evening will be the battle between Kiman Kudo, the Japanese who is wasting his time by not becoming a chiropractor, and Wee Willie Davis, 247-pound West Virginia brute. Kudo, who manages to come in at 170 wringing wet, will take on the big guy who extended Champion Vincent Lopez last week in a strictly jiu-jitsu affair—Japanese "straight jackets" and all.

Not Uneven
While he spots his rival something like 70 pounds, the brown-skinned rascal is not giving away too much. He knows enough intricate funnyness to provide Davis with a very large evening and has another advantage in the fact that falls aren't falls under jiu-jitsu rules unless the victim gives up. Kudo can take twice the punishment that Davis can and may again lick the hairy one. He did it in a one fall match not so long ago.

Last week Kudo defeated Nelson Davis, baby-faced brother of Wee Willie, and won new admiration for his subtle maneuvers.

WHAT PRICE PEACE IS QUESTION

Experts Debate on It
As Next Congress
Draws Near

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP)—What price, in dollars and cents, is America willing to pay to stay out of the wars of the future? This is one of the many questions confronting experts as the day draws close when congress will turn next month to debate a permanent neutrality policy.

On the basis of statisticians' figures, the cost might range anywhere from nothing to billions, depending on the type of policy adopted and the scope of the war the country tried to shun. These figures are based on the trade which would be lost if the United States curbed or shut off exports to belligerents.

Some Say Peace Cheaper

Some advocates of strict neutrality say that monetary costs should not be considered; that peace at any price is cheaper than war. Others would lay down a policy designed to keep us out of war yet deal as soft a blow as possible to the country's economy.

There broad proposals for a permanent policy have been advanced. Some peace advocates would cut off all trade with all belligerents, or all trade with aggressors. Members of the senate munitions committee would embargo all trade in munitions or essential war materials, but permit normal trade in other commodities.

Embargo Policy Seen

The administration seems to some observers to be headed toward a policy of embargoing munitions power, but applying quotas on war materials to limit exports to normal.

Suppose another World war should break out, involving the same nations that were in the last one? How would the various plans affect American trade?

Under the first, the great bulk of all American foreign trade would be sacrificed. In the so-called normal year of 1926 this amounted to $4,808,000,000, or 10 per cent of the country's total production of movable goods. Last year total exports were about $2,200,000,000.

Second Plan

The second plan, if confined to the commodities on which the administration is now centering attention, would cut normal trade approximately a billion dollars in a year such as 1926. But if it included cotton, the total would be close to $2,000,000,000.

Under the third policy the cost would be little. If applied before trade expanded to the war demand, it would merely keep exports at their normal level.

Many champions of the various plans fear, however, that even if normal trade was not seriously curtailed the clamor would be terrific when domestic producers found they could not sell freely in a world market where prices were skyrocketing.

How Counties In State Got Their Names

The story of how California counties derived their names is an interesting part of the history of the Golden State. Believing that the thousands of tourists who motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Leo Kelly has prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California, including a few salient facts about each county.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY

Created March 11, 1893. This county was formed from portions of San Diego and San Bernardino counties and derived its name from the town of Riverside.

This county is the fourth largest in California. Its scenic attractions are many and varied, ranging from desert to snow-capped mountains. Its resorts are internationally known, notably Palm Springs, playground of the wealthy. In the city of Riverside is the world-famous Riverside Inn.

Riverside has 4746 farms embracing 633,932 acres. Crops produced, headed by oranges, have an annual valuation mounting into many millions of dollars. In a land where water is essential to soil cultivation, Riverside has an abundant supply and has approximately 125,000 irrigated acres. Every plant known to the temperate and semitropical zones can be grown successfully. Production of oranges and lemons is the leading industry while hay, barley, wheat, oats and alfalfa crops are produced in enormous quantities. Fruits, melons, walnuts, vegetables and dairy and poultry products rank high. In one year, Riverside produced 1,812,023 pounds of dates. The county also is a great honey producing center and boasts 40,000 colonies of bees. In this county is located the citrus experiment station and graduate school of sub-tropical horticulture. The soil is a rich silt, the entire region having once been the bed of an inland sea.

From the Salton sea, 216 feet below sea level, to the pinetopped summit of old Mount San Jacinto with an altitude of nearly 11,000 feet, there is almost a limitless range of climatic conditions. Riverside county has mineral resources so vast and varied that

'GOD, CAUSE AND CREATOR,' SUBJECT FOR SUNDAY LESSON

"The Lord reigneth, he is clothed with majesty; the Lord is clothed with strength, wherewith he hath girded himself: the world also is established, that it cannot be moved." This declaration of the Psalmist constituted the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "God the Only Cause and Creator" on Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Scriptural selections cited the words of Christ Jesus, from Matthew: "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravishing wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits. . . . A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire."

The Lesson-Sermon included also these passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is false to say that Truth and error commingle in creation. In parable and argument, this falsity is exposed by our Master as self-evidently wrong."

Beating Train To Crossing Is Disastrous

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP)—The game of trying to beat the locomotive to the grade crossing is becoming increasingly disastrous.

Interstate commerce commission reports showed that 853 persons died and 2449 suffered injuries in the crossing accidents in the first seven months of 1935. This compares with 827 and 2313 in the 1934 period.

POSTOFFICE MAKES PLANS FOR CHRISTMAS RUSH

Preparations for handling the annual Christmas rush of mail at the postoffice will be underway soon. At the present time, however, Assistant Postmaster Flake Smith and Superintendent of Mails L. F. Harvey are basing their plans for the Christmas season on records of past years.

Mr. Harvey announced today that there would be at least 20 cars used in delivering parcels during the rush season which he said would commence about Dec. 20. A crew of substitute carriers will be taken on at that time.

"We will have to place several substitutes on the force during the week before Christmas," Mr. Harvey said. "There is one thing I would like to bring out, however, and that is that we have nearly three times the number of applications for substitute work than we will have openings."

Mr. Smith explained that the addition of two new carriers and one clerk to the force would tend to make the handling of the mails run smoother than in the past.

"We have plans at present for the coming rush which call for the opening of two more windows," Mr. Smith said. "One of the windows will be for merchants, and another will be for the handling of the general public. We will have a set of scales in the lobby, and a clerk to weigh packages. He will mark the price necessary for mailing, and the package will then be taken to the window for stamps. In this way we expect to avoid considerable confusion."

"There is one point in particular I would like to make clear. There absolutely will be no deliveries made on Christmas day. For that reason, those who wish to have their packages delivered in time to have them on the Christmas tree, must mail them early."

W. A. A. PLAY DAY OBSERVED AT J. C.

Woman athletic stars of Fullerton, Compton, Long Beach and Santa Ana Junior colleges met in Santa Ana Saturday for a Women's Athletic Association play day.

Welcome was extended at a 9 o'clock assembly in Andrews' gymnasium, by Betty Lee, president of the local association. Mrs. Eleanor orthocross, dean of women of the Santa Ana Jaycee, also greeted the girls.

In the games which followed, Compton took Fullerton, 25 to 12, and Long Beach, Santa Ana, 35 to 28 in basketball first teams. Honors for second team went to Compton over Fullerton.

In volleyball, Santa Ana defeated Compton and Fullerton, Long Beach.

Tennis laurels for first singles were awarded Santa Ana 6-0, 6-0, over Compton and Fullerton with a similar score over Long Beach. In first doubles, Long Beach defeated Santa Ana 7-5 and 6-1 and Fullerton, Compton, 7-5 and 6-3.

Fullerton scored over Compton in second doubles, 6-3 and 6-1. Extra singles between Fullerton and Compton resulted in two 6 to 0 sets for Fullerton.

ANN MORGAN FREE YOUTH IN FRESNO CASE

ANN MORGAN

"Americanism" will be discussed by Ann Morgan, well known lecturer, sociologist and educator, on the third program of the Orange County forum, Tuesday night at 8:15 o'clock, at the Fullerton High school auditorium. Mrs. Albert Launer, of Fullerton, will act as chairman of the evening.

Born and reared in an environment of luxury and wealth, Ann Morgan has nevertheless set out definitely to make a place for herself in the world. Her early travel and education abroad have given her a cosmopolitan point of view while her interest in sociology and economics have made these her favorite studies.

Before she began her collegiate studies she had the rare advantage of observing prisons, settlements and educational centers in Europe, Great Britain and the United States.

This made her a serious student and won recognition for her from the leading economist and sociologist of the last generation, Dr. O. F. Boucke, before she had earned her B.S. degree. Later she became a paid welfare worker in state reformatories, winning the praise of Emily Morrison, Jane Adams and Anne Peterson.

The World War interrupted her education and she prepared herself for the United States tank corps, being the only woman under government instruction and

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—Tony Salkoff, 22-year-old farm hand, taken in custody here Saturday in connection with the investigation of the murder in Fresno of Mary Stammer, was cleared of any connection with the case Saturday night when Sheriff Overholt announced in Fresno that he had checked on the youth's statements and found his alibi airtight. He was released from custody.

Undersheriff Tarr of Fresno, who came here to question Salkoff, had teletyped the youth's statements to Fresno for checking. Salkoff was taken into custody here early Saturday after he had been trailed south from a farm adjacent to the Stammer home in Fresno. Officers said their attention had been aroused because he, Salkoff, assertedly left at the height of the pruning season with several days' wages due him.

Stoutly maintaining his innocence, Salkoff, who is also known as Thomas Shubin, insisted he had been paid in full and had quit his job solely to be with relatives here during the holiday season.

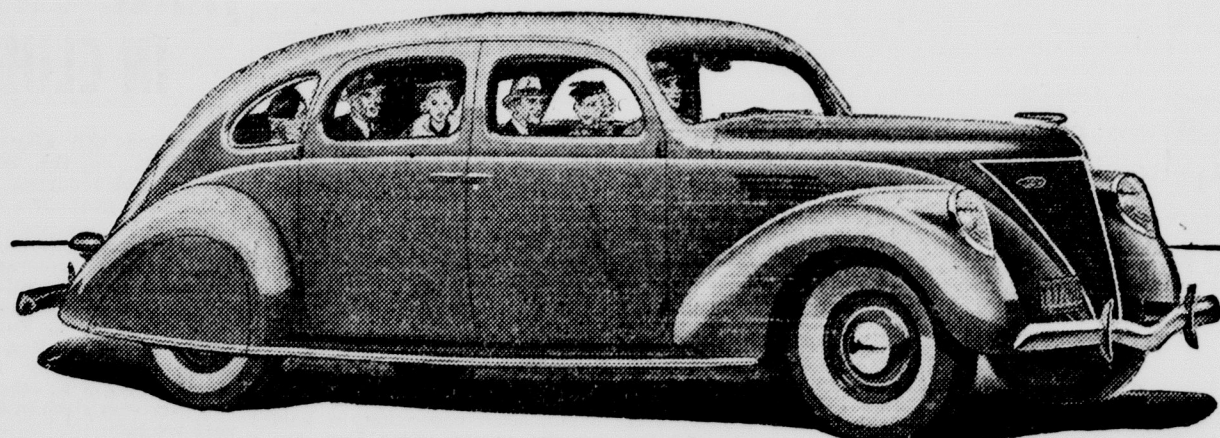

Prior to Sheriff Overholt's announcement that the boy's alibi was perfect, a check of his fingerprints against fingerprints found in the Stammer home failed to show any similarity.

the first licensed operator to drive any tractor used by the United States army. She was also active in the land army and had been paid in full and had quit his job solely to be with relatives here during the holiday season.

But in the midst of her colorful life Miss Morgan has kept in touch with society, art, music and the drama so that she has a well rounded background from which to make an intelligent analysis of this country and its needs. Miss Morgan is cousin of Ann Morgan, who was chairman of Belgian orphan relief during the World War.

LINCOLN-ZEPHYR THE FORD AND LINCOLN TWELVE-CYLINDER VALUE AT MEDIUM PRICE

BORN in the Lincoln tradition, bearing the Lincoln name, the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR brings to the medium-price field traditional Ford-Lincoln standards of value. Built in its own specially equipped division of the Lincoln plant, famous for precision workmanship, this new car reflects the combined Ford-Lincoln engineering experience, manufacturing ability and economic resources.

Powered with a 110-horsepower 12-cylinder engine of the V-type, the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR provides performance of a high order, combined with unusual economy. The wide, roomy body, on a wheelbase of 122 inches with springbase of 133 inches, has ample room for six passengers and luggage. The spare wheel is carried concealed under the rear deck.

At first glimpse the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR will give you a new concept of beauty. Here a motor car's form is determined logically by a motor car's function. Streamlines flow, uninterrupted, from bow to stern, from side to side; and every line satisfies the eye.

But the beauty of the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR carries a significance larger than any style trend. It reflects new principles of design. Just as trusses of steel make possible the bridge, light in weight but great in strength, steel trusses underlie the curves of this new car. Body and frame are one, welded together.

The great safety provided by this modern construction is enhanced by ease of handling and control. On all types of roads, under all conditions of travel, the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR conveys the feeling of safety because of its low center of gravity and correct distribution of weight.

Inherent in the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR, too, is a new rhythm of motoring. Many persons have remarked that the back seat is as comfortable as the front, and that the car rides as gently with one passenger as with six. Soft transverse springs minimize jounces, jolts, bumps—"up-and-down" motions that tire the motorist. With its alert and responsive V-12 cylinder motor, this car glides over all kinds of road surfaces without transmitting their shocks to driver or passengers.

For all its forward-reaching design, the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR contains nothing experimental. It has been tested more rigorously by Lincoln engineers than it could be by owners. Working parts are easy of access. Basic design and details of construction make the new car economical to operate.

Plan to inspect the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR today. Discover, for yourself, the new concept of beauty... the new rhythm of motoring.

'LIAR' CHARGE HURLED AT MEETING

Tumult Marks Opening Of Industry Session In Capital Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP)—Shouted charges of "liar" between industry and government spokesmen gave a tumultuous opening today to the business conference summoned by George L. Berry, President Roosevelt's coordinator for industrial cooperation.

As more than 2000 industry-labor representatives milled about in the large commerce department auditorium, John W. O'Leary, former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and head of the Machinery & Allied Products Institute.

Berry, in an iron-handed decision, refused to give O'Leary the floor. The same treatment was accorded other industrial representatives seeking to prolong the meeting with speeches after Berry concluded his opening address.

Then A. P. Haake, Chicago, who said he represented the National Furniture Manufacturers' association leaped from his chair and demanded recognition.

After he had been advised to do his talking before a round table conference, he demanded "the right of an American citizen" to talk immediately.

"You know that you were sent here to dynamite this meeting and I'm not going to let you do it," Berry said quietly from the platform.

"You're an unqualified liar," Haake roared back.

"You're another, and if you come up here I'll make you eat it, eat it, eat it," Berry retorted.

The confusion resulting from the delegates leaving the hall and roars of "sit down" from the labor delegation stopped any further exchange. Berry stayed on the platform and Haake on the floor.

Santa Ana Symphony Opens Concert Series Here With Brilliant, Varied Program

By BOB GUILD

Climaxed with the sweep and grandeur of Rimski-Korsakov's "Russian Easter," building carefully and skillfully through moods ranging from the mystic loneliness of Borodin's "Steppe of Central Asia" to the exuberant overture to Gluck's "Iphigenia in Aulis," the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra last night inaugurated its third concert series at the First Methodist church with a surprisingly fine program.

The evening's thrill for the large audience which greeted Director Elwood Bear and the orchestra was in the Rimski-Korsakov opus, last number of the program. Great grandeur was in the musical parable of the song of David, "Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered; let them also that hate him flee before him. As smoke is driven away, so drive them away."

The concert opened with the Gluck number, outstanding for its exuberance and occasional melody. First played in 1774, the Iphigenia overture actually marks the introduction of now familiar methods of treatment to grand opera.

Borodin's music was a mournful, almost barbaric picture of the great plains of Asia, across it marching a caravan accompanied by Cossack soldiers. The immensity of monotony of the vastness is suggested by overtones to the rhythms, from persistent violins.

It was followed by the tuneful "Moorish Dance Song" of Nicode, familiar for its minor opening phrases and broken cadences.

Pilgrim's March Most ambitious of the numbers was the Mendelssohn "Symphony in A," first performed in London in 1833, with the composer conducting. The symphony, in allegro vivace and andante movements, is the result of a visit to Italy by Mendelssohn, which strongly influenced the melody development. The second movement contains the impressive Pilgrim's March, only sombre note in the work.

In discussing a program so carefully balanced it is difficult to emphasize individual excellences. Grieg's extremely well-known "Ase's Death," as written for string orchestra, was a whispering dirge, with an overnote of exultation and a prayer at the end.

Nicode's "In the Tavern," gay and lilting melody of Provence, set in formal form, was delightful, and proved a fine contrast to the Grieg number, by which it was followed. Both Nicode numbers are from his "Scenes from the South" suite.

Bear Capable The direction of Elwood Bear was both restrained and capable, and his orchestra performed as a unit.

During intermission tribute was paid the genius of the musicians and the spirit which makes the symphony series possible by the Rev. Dr. George Warner, pastor of the church. Dr. Warner asked Santa Ana's support for the organization, and thanked The Santa Ana Journal for its history of the venture, as printed last Thursday.

Employment will be given 499 Orange county women Wednesday, when long-awaited sewing and social rehabilitation projects will officially get under way. WPA Director Dan Mulherron announced today. Certification of the projects was received from Frank Y. McLaughlin, state Works Progress administration, Saturday afternoon.

The total cost of four approved projects to function in various parts of the county, will be $379,574. Of this amount $370,337 will be furnished by the federal government and the remainder by Orange county.

Largest of the projects is the social rehabilitation work, under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Olson. Units of the project, which will employ 258 women, will be installed in Santa Ana, Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Laguna Beach and Costa Mesa.

Cost of the rehabilitation project will be $174,226, to function for 12 months. Project workers will be taught to sew, bulk of the work going articles for household use and clothing. Local headquarters will be in the Fuller building.

204 In Sewing Job Mrs. Nellie A. Stroh will supervise the sewing project, employing 204 skilled workers, graduated from previous State Emergency Relief Administration projects. Total cost of the project will be $159,878, and it will extend over a period of 12 months.

Two other projects, sheets and pillowslip work, for 21 women, and men's clothing, for 16 women and five men, also will get under way on Wednesday. Mr. Mulherron said. Total cost of the two projects will be $45,470. They will be under the direction of L. Z. Edge.

Rates of Pay Told Rates of pay on the projects will vary from $48 monthly for the rehabilitation unit to $50, skilled labor rate for the others.

Mr. Jaynes emphasized today that while all equipment and materials for the work is furnished by WPA, those reporting on Wednesday must furnish their own scissors and thumbtacks.

Clothing and other articles turned out by the workers will be put in the surplus commodities division of SERA, for distribution to direct relief clients, and through direct welfare agencies to unemployed cases and others not on work relief roles.

NEW MINISTER ASSIGNED TO S. A. CHURCH

The Rev. S. T. Borg came this week from Phoenix, Ariz., to be pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church of Santa Ana.

He had been pastor of the Phoenix church for six years. He came here with his wife and two sons. He was formerly of Santa Ana.

His sermon Saturday opened the annual week of prayer observed by the church throughout the world. Meetings will be held every night this week at 7:30 o'clock.

"The Philippine islands," says Sing with a smile. "We'll land in the harbor and rest for a while."

DERN URGES HUGE ARMY AIR PLAN

Five - Year - Program Of Buying Airplanes Is Advocated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP)—A five-year aircraft buying program intended to nearly quadruple the Army's fighting plane strength by 1941 was "urgently" recommended yesterday by Secretary Dern.

The war department head proposed the annual purchase of 800 planes of all types in the next five years, his annual report holding the present air force "far short of its reasonable requirements."

Aim of Program This program, he estimated, would equip the army with 3000 combat planes by the end of the five-year period. It now has 1196 planes, of which only 838 are combat. The remainder are observation, training and transport ships. There are 314 more under construction.

"It is a pity," said the report of the nation's defense generally, "that we should have become so oblivious to the bitter lessons of the World war as to allow our defense to dwindle until, if another war should be forced upon us, we should, as usual be unprepared for effective action."

"In that event," the report continued, "we should find that our so-called 'economies' have in reality been a hideously extravagant waste of money and lives."

Suggestions Made The report made these additional recommendations: Maintenance of the regular army at a minimum strength of 14,000 officers and 165,000 enlisted men, involving the addition of 2000 officers.

Maintenance of the National Guard at a minimum strength of 210,000, necessitating an increase of approximately 15,000.

Increasing from 20,000 to 30,000 the minimum number of organized reserve officers to be given two weeks annual training.

Enrollment of 50,000 youths annually in citizen's military training camps. There were 30,000 enrolled last summer.

An enlisted reserve strength sufficient to bring existing Regular Army units to war strength.

Inauguration of a munitions procurement program with the object of acquiring a full complement of modern weapons and other equipment for the Regular Army and National Guard at peace strength.

Provision of funds for completion of the Army's housing program.

Construction of a new War Department building in the District of Columbia to centralize activities scattered over a wide area.

T. B.'S DEATH TOLL HIGH

Fourteen Californians die each day from tuberculosis, and seven of them are under 45 years of age, according to statistics compiled by the California Tuberculosis association and announced yesterday by Dr. Walter H. Brown of its board of directors. In a state-wide appeal for the purchase of Christmas seals, Dr. Brown said:

"Nearly a million homes in California have received Christmas seals. The money from the sale of these may save suffering and death."

"More than 6000 Californians lie desperately ill from this disease at this Christmas season, the studies of the California Tuberculosis association reveals. The spread of tuberculosis may be prevented according to Dr. Brown, by the methods now known. By these methods the death rate has been cut in half, but the relentless fight must continue in order to conquer the scourge."

WORK BEGINS ON MUSEUM PROJECT

Group Of WPA Workers Start To Catalogue Exhibits Today

Intensified work on the preparation of the Charles W. Bowers Memorial museum was under way today, as seven Works Progress administration workers began the task of completing the museum. Work on the project, formerly conducted under State Emergency Relief administration, had been halted Aug. 1 when SERA jobs were stopped.

The group to undertake the cataloguing, filing of information and display presentation of articles in the museum will be headed by John Winterbourne, archeologist. His staff will include Noah Dixon, Miss Eva S. Cole, Miss Katherine Nott, August Voigt and Alberta Hamblett.

Mrs. F. E. Coulier, curator, will be in general charge of the work, which is being done at a cost of $6534, of which federal funds total $4716. The project is a part of the professional and technical workers division of the WPA, under Fred Jaynes.

Three sets of records of every article in the museum, listing pertinent facts and explanations about each, will be prepared in the course of the work. Extensive compilations will be made of news clippings of Orange county historical interest. WPA Manager Dan Mulherron said today.

TOWNSEND GROUP GOES TO RIVERSIDE

Rallying to the Townsend movement, delegates from the 19th California district, who attended the recent convention in Chicago, assembled yesterday at the Aurea Vista club in Riverside for an all-day meeting.

E. E. Gordon, state manager of California, and Ted E. Felt, new district manager, spoke to the group.

A Committee Representing Various Progressive Groups Have Invited

J. Frank Burke

To Address a Public Meeting to Be Held

IN THE Francis Willard

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM in Santa Ana

Tues., Eve., Dec. 10th

—At 8 o'Clock—

On the Subject: "NOW IT CAN BE TOLD"

—OR— "WHAT A LIBERAL CAN DO"

This meeting will give opportunity to all those who stand for clean government, for human rights, for idealism and vision in the conduct of human affairs to render a public tribute to a man who has conspicuously stood for these things.

Mr. Burke has for more than eight years waged the fight in Orange County for social justice for all. His position as the editor of the Santa Ana Register virtually made of him a clearing house of facts and opinions relative to every subject on which sides have been taken. Through his editorials he has evidenced a wide knowledge and understanding of state, national and international affairs. His understanding and sympathy with the people and their problems has been unmistakable.

Mr. Burke is now free to speak his mind without the handicaps which come from being the directing force of a big publication which of necessity must serve and depend upon varied interests for support and success.

He is well known for his ability as an entertaining and convincing speaker. He can be depended upon to discuss freely and without reserve the issues and problems with which he has been so vitally connected. BUT HE WILL DO THIS FROM A NON-PARTISAN STANDPOINT. It can be guessed that there will be no dull moments during this meeting.

The meeting will be open to all without charge. All those who have appreciated the fine editorial work of J. Frank Burke and his influence for good as a citizen will welcome this opportunity to be present and make this meeting an overwhelming tribute to his splendid effort and worth.

The committee connected with arrangements who extended the invitation to Mr. Burke to speak included Mrs. Pearl Hess, Mrs. Barbara Brooks, A. G. Diehl, Walter R. Robb and Ernest Wooster.

What to Wear, Where to Dance, Queries to Be Answered By Junior Ebells

Fashion Bridge Tea Set For Wednesday

Book Review Section to Give Informal Dance Saturday at Beach

"What shall I wear?" "Where'll we go to dance?" Both questions this week are being answered by Santa Ana Junior Ebells groups.

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Ebells clubhouse a bridge tea followed by a fashion showing of knitwear is scheduled by the travel and home economics sections of the juniors. Mrs. Edwin Clarke, hereby pictured, is general chairman of the affair, to which clubwomen and their friends are being invited.

In the Lido Isle clubhouse Saturday evening, the book review section will sponsor an informal dance, also open to friends.

SOUTH AMERICA TO BE DISCUSSED BY TEACHERS

Kindergarten and primary teachers of Orange county will meet at 2:45 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Huntington Beach kindergarten building to hear Miss Esther Funk talk on "The Social Heritage of Peru and Bolivia."

Last summer, Miss Funk, who is a first grade teacher in Huntington Beach, took graduate work in archaeology under direction of Dr. Edgar Lee Hewitt, head of the American bureau of research at Santa Fe, N. M., head of the archaeology department at the University of New Mexico and director of research work at U. S. C.

She will have an exhibit of textiles and other materials used and made by Indians in the high Andean plateaus, as well as curios from Bolivia and Ecuador. Reels of interesting films, taken of people and country life, will be shown, also.

POETRY GROUP TO MEET TOMORROW

Poetry enthusiasts in the Woman's club will meet tomorrow for a program at 10 o'clock in the morning at Mrs. J. Edmund Snow's home, 117 East Tenth street.

An informal session is planned.

George R. Whitcombs, 55 Years Wed, Paid Honor

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Whitcomb looked back 55 years yesterday to the village of Cambridge Center, Vt., where they both taught school and married, Dec. 7, 1880. Their 55th wedding anniversary was honored yesterday with a dinner at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert P. Rankin, 2106 North Main street.

On June 7, 1881 the bride and groom followed the impulse of those days to go west, they recalled yesterday afternoon at the family gathering.

CHURCH SECTION OBSERVES CHRISTMAS AT TEA

In music, song and decorations, members of the Northwest section of the Ladies' aid of the First Presbyterian church observed Christmas at their tea Friday at the home of Mrs. J. R. Medlock, 820 North Main street.

Opening the program, Mrs. Mamie W. Judd read a Christmas story for the devotionals. Mrs. E. B. Sprague, who was chairman of the day, presented Mrs. Arthur May who sang "Birth of Christ" by Hoffman and "The Wind Song" by Rogers.

Mona Summers Smith read "Dust of the Road" by Kenneth Sawyer Goodman.

Tea was poured at a table centered with a decorative white Christmas tree, by Mrs. H. K. Pollock. Hostesses were under Mrs. Asa Hoffman's chairmanship.

Linen Shower Given for Bride

Linens to stock her chests for many a month were showered upon Mrs. Crawford Nalle (until recently Florence Brownridge) at a party Saturday afternoon in Long Beach at the home of Mrs. Manley Natland (Dorothy Diehl).

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Natland were Mrs. Hal Harlow (Olive Granger) and Miss Marcia Huber.

In the play of bridge, prizes went to Mrs. Joseph Irwin and Miss Helen Spangler. A buffet supper was served from a table decorated in yellow at the close of the afternoon.

Others present were Mesdames Clarence Ranney, Joseph Irwin, William Jerome, Jr., Robert Guild, Stanley Norton, and the Misses Loretta Spangler, Martha Wallingford, Ruth Owens, Katherine Barr and Margaret Whitson Elliott.

DON BLANDING FETED AT TEA IN HOME OF MILDRED WATSON

Miss Mildred Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Watson, North Harwood street, Orange, entertained with a tea yesterday afternoon at the family home, honoring Don Blanding, Hollywood poet, and James Neil North and his wife Margaret Scott Copeland, writers and editors, of Ontario.

Red hibiscus in a koi bowl, and red tapers graced the table, which was covered with a lace cloth.

Mrs. Tray Le Roque, Los Angeles and Mrs. W. C. Ahlmann, Orange, aunts of the hostess, poured. Miss Watson wore a black floor length skirt, with hibiscus red blouse and gardenia corsage, gift of Chapter 1E, P. E. O. Mrs. Le Roque wore black velvet. Mrs. Ahlmann black crepe skirt and lamme blouse. Mrs. Ralph Watson, Santa Ana, in white satin, headed jacket, Miss Flora Ellen Tilton, Santa Monica, in black beaded crepe, and Mrs. A. Haven Smith, blue crepe, also assisted.

In the afternoon, Mr. North sang a Russian folk song, and also a song of his own composition. Mr. Blanding autographed a number of books of his poems. About 80 guests called between 3 and 5 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY OPENS MEETS FOR WOMEN

Wednesday opens the series of meetings for First Presbyterian church women with an executive board session of the missionary society scheduled for 11:30 a. m. At 12 noon, a covered-dish luncheon for the joint meeting of ladies aid and missionary societies will be served. Rolls, coffee, butter and dessert will be furnished. Members are asked to bring their own table service.

Promptly at 1:30 o'clock, the program will begin. Mrs. W. B. Gantz, recently returned from a trip to Bible lands, will be guest speaker. Mrs. K. H. Sutherland will give the devotionals. Special music will be presented by Mrs. W. L. Hall.

On Thursday the Southeast section of the ladies' aid will meet with Mrs. Albert Schultz, 722 Hallday. A 15-cent gift exchange will be held. That night at 6 o'clock, the Estella Daniel Missionary society will meet in the church basement. Members are asked to bring their own table service.

HOME DEPARTMENT TOPIC TO BE MAKING OF GOOD SWEETS

Miss Frances Liles, Orange county home demonstration agent, assisted by Mrs. Porter G. Luther and Mrs. A. M. Robinson, will demonstrate the making of "Heathful Sweets" at the regular meeting of the home department of Tustin Farm center tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the domestic science room of Tustin Union High school.

Each woman attending is asked to provide her own sandwiches for the noon luncheon. Sweets prepared during the morning will be served. Coffee will be furnished by the center.

VETERAN REBEKAHS' MEETING FEATURED BY GIFT EXCHANGE

A Christmas gift exchange closed the meeting of Veteran Rebekahs last Friday afternoon in the I. O. O. F. hall, with Mrs. Lydia Phipps, presiding.

Installation service was held for Mrs. Valeda Eddy, a transfer from Michigan, Mrs. Emma Northup and Mrs. Martha Taylor.

Two visitors, Mrs. Emma Frase and Mrs. Anna Johnston, nieces of Mrs. Fannie Rose, were present.

A Christmas tree and fall flowers centered the table from which refreshments were served.

HOUSEWIVES INVITED TO SEE YULE SWEETS AND LEARN RECIPES

Do you enjoy baking delicious Christmas cookies? If your larder can stand a few more jars of crunchy sweets for the holiday season, Margaret Lackland, director of the Southern Counties Gas company, invites you to the gas office tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to hear how to prepare more than half a dozen delicious varieties!

A special table ornament for Christmas will also be displayed at the open demonstration session.

'Die Tante' Club Plans Affair

"Die Tante club," recently organized group of young working men and women, will hold a Christmas dance Wednesday night in the Y. W. C. A. clubrooms.

Dances previously sponsored by the group were known as the Young Business People's dances, but now a club has been formed to which any young working person can belong.

The committee in charge includes Miss Marie Smith, Miss Helen Glancy, Miss Caroline Smith, Omar Williams, Kenneth Nicholson, Sam Cash and John Schrier.

Beginning Jan. 8, the dances will be held every Wednesday night. Invitations have been sent to a list of business persons and a cordial invitation is extended to those who have not been sent personal bids.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT CHRISTMAS PARTY OF PIONEERS

Officers were elected for the Pioneer club of Sedgwick W. R. C. before the group swung into its Christmas party last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emma Mosbaugh, 636 North Broadway.

Mrs. Mosbaugh, Mrs. Sarah Alford, vice president; and Mrs. Abbie Vandermast, chaplain, were reelected. Mrs. Hannah Huntington was named to succeed Mrs. Annie Arnold as patriotic instructor. Mrs. Arnold consented to serve as press chairman temporarily.

Annual reports followed opening ceremonies, with Mrs. Mosbaugh at the piano and Mrs. Rosa Diers leading the prayer. Mrs. Elizabeth Birtchead, a special guest, had made candleholders of scarlet crepe paper tipped with silver to match the silver candles and yuletide appointments for the table where refreshments were served.

Similar decorations had been sent to Monrovia for the bedside tray of Mrs. Alford, who is ill in the home of her daughter.

Those who shared the Christmas gift exchange with Mrs. Mosbaugh were Mesdames Helen Kellogg Aubin, Anna Pendleton, Cassie Ferguson, Rosa Diers, Emma Lieser, Fannie Cunningham, Lotie Rittenhouse, Marietta Phillo, Mae West, Hannah Huntington, Fannie Newman, Alice Kryhl, Martha Ritchey, Eugenia Harvey, Margaret Culver, Stella Elwell, Elizabeth McLeod, Annie Arnold, Kate Johnson, Birkhead and Teresa Ryan.

Mary Stoddard "I Don't Know Why I'm Getting Married," Is Believed Reason for Early Divorces

By MARY STODDARD

Roses wither. Snowflakes melt. The flood tide runs its course and recedes. Is marriage that way, too?

I've always disliked the idea of cold statistical figures in connection with anything as fragile as June moon romances.

But figures are figures, and government statistics must be taken as proof of the matrimonial pudding.

According to them, the waltz is scarcely begun when one or the other of the two who started the ball with a Lohengrin procession decides that he doesn't want to dance any more—or that he wants a partner who knows more exciting steps.

These figures furnish proof that the average marriage lasts six years and eight months, according to Jack Anthony, director of the Marital Relations Institute of New York City.

Why Marry?

The other day the Marital Relations institute had 18,000 persons throughout the United States questioned when they applied for licenses, as to why they wanted to be married. Ninety-one per cent replied: "I don't know," or some vague, patterned phrase which meant the same thing.

"I don't know!" Then how could they hope to build something beautiful, secure, lasting, whose walls would rise high enough to shut away all lesser loveliness?

Twenty-three per cent of the people questioned said that they were marrying for financial security. Women have been known to use marriage as an economic gesture, but it is disappointing to have 254 of them admit they prefer checkbooks to love.

Men Marry for Money

By the same count, it is much worse to discover that 119 men were exchanging their names for economic security. Surely the ghosts of the knights who once rode to tournaments to win a lady's favor must shudder at the degradation of their grandsons who marry to be taken care of.

Of the 18,000 candidates for marriage only 6120 said that they expected the marriage to last forever. It is small wonder, then, that the average duration of an American marriage is less than seven years. The marvel is that marriage endures so long! With a marrying populace of defeatists certainly we can't expect sturdy foundations on which will withstand waters, winds and storms.

CHURCH RITES JOIN MISS HELEN LUKENS, HARRY M. WARNE

In United Presbyterian church Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, Miss Helen Marie Lukens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lukens, South Sullivan street, was married to Harry Minor Warne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warne, East Bishop street. The Rev. Dr. A. E. Kelly officiated.

The bride wore white lace with a cape, a long tulle veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white flowers.

Mrs. Gordon Lindsey of Orange, matron of honor, wore gold crepe with harmonizing bouquet. She was the bride's roommate for two years at the John Brown school. Barbara Warne and Jean Hoy in autumn tones, with harmonizing flowers, were bridesmaids. Miss Jean Hoy, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles at the altar.

Wendell Lukens, the bride's brother, was best man. Pete Sherrill and Robert Kelly were ushers.

James Lukens, another brother of the bride, sang "At Dawning" and "O, Promise Me" Harry Warne, father of the bridegroom, was organist.

A reception was given for the bridal party and relatives in the Lukens home, where after the bride cut her cake it was served with ices by the bridegroom. Mrs. Warne wore a rust crepe frock with navy accessories when she left with her husband for a short trip.

They are to live on St. Andrew's place. Both are Santa Ana High school graduates. The bride attended John Brown school, and Mr. Warne, the local Junior college. He is employed on the Irvine ranch.

Phi Sigs Bidden To Province Dance

Phi Sigs of Delta Province, including the 14 Southern Phi Sigma chapters, will mingle for a gala evening Saturday in the Rendezvous room of the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles, according to bids just issued for the annual winter province semi-formal.

Kearney Walton and his Biltmore Rendezvous orchestra will provide music for dancing, beginning at 9:30 o'clock, the smart blue and silver bids say.

CHRISTMAS TO BE PROGRAM THEME AT W. C. T. U. MEET

Business will conclude with a Christmas program at the meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Baptist church.

Mrs. C. D. Hicks will lead the devotionals service. The adult women's chorus of the city schools under Mrs. Dudley Page Harper will sing. Miss Sadalia Cubbison will read a Christmas story entitled "The Little Mixer."

Alsa Thompson Wedded In Church

Miss Alsa M. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Thompson, 1115 West Eighth street, was a pretty bride when she was married yesterday at high noon in First Baptist church to Harry R. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Reed, 925 South Hickory street. The Rev. Dr. Harry Evan Owings officiated.

The bride wore smartly fashioned dark green silk with brown accessories and a cluster of gardenias.

Mrs. C. A. Kirk, matron of honor, was in green and brown, with sweet pea corsage in white. Mr. Kirk was best man.

A wedding luncheon for the two families was given after the wedding in the Roy Reed home. The bride changed her costume for a navy blue suit and navy accessories before leaving with her husband on a wedding trip to the San Bernardino mountains.

Their new home will be made in Paso Robles, where Mr. Reed is employed with the Pacific Crane and Rigging company.

The bride is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and Junior college. Her husband received the same education. Mrs. Reed has been feted at several pretty parties, the latest being given by Mrs. Roy Reed and Mrs. Charles Schwewick in the former's home.

THE THINKERS

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Do you consider homemaking studies for adults valuable?

Mrs. J. F. Miller: You should ask the husbands that question. When I bring home some new dish from our farm bureau home study class, my husband says: "It really pays for women to go out and learn new hints in homemaking."

Mrs. A. L. Ellis: I certainly do. It depends on the person, though. Anyone who has made that her life study since marriage doesn't need it. Adult education in homemaking for the sort of person who's at a loss just how to arrange the home, perhaps to do her cooking or to plan the home decorations, is definitely valuable.

THE COOK'S OWN CORNER

The Journal wants to give its readers at least one tasty tried-and-true recipe each day.

PERSIMMON PUDDING, SAUCE

By MRS. GAILE L. FUNK
2000 South Ross Street

Ingredients follow: 1 cup persimmon pulp; 1 cup Eagle brand milk; pinch of salt; 1 tsp. melted butter; 1 cup sugar; 1/4 tsp. cinnamon; 1 tsp. vanilla; 2 scant tsp. soda and 1 cup flour. Add raisins and walnuts. Bake one hour in covered pan.

Lemon Sauce

Ingredients: 1 cup sugar; 1 lemon; 1 egg; 1/2 pound butter and 4 tbsp. water. Cook in double boiler until thick.

JABOT LENDS SPARKLE TO SLENDERIZING MARIAN MARTIN FROCK

PATTERN 9663

Chances are you're looking for a frock that does flattering things for your figure—molds curves subtly, and bespeaks the fact that you "know your lines." This frock does all these things, and more—it echoes Fashion's latest idea—contrast—in the graceful folds of a jabot that makes the casual observer forget this is a surprise frock with a "purpose." Repe de chine, triple sheer, or satin in white or light color, will make a flattering top-note. And credit that curving skirt seam with an important role in this slimming process! Canton crepe, dull lustre satin or a ribbed silk will make a charming frock, with all-in-one sleeves and yoke, a grand work-saving idea. Complete. Diagrammed. Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9663 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric and 1 yard contrasting.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

The new Marian Martin pattern book will be ready for mailing Dec. 18. Place your order now, and be among the first to receive a copy. It's a practical pattern book that interprets spring's newest fashions in thrifty, easy-to-make clothes for the whole family! Price of book 15 cents. Book and a pattern together, 25 cents.

Send your order to The Journal, Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Cal.

KEEP THE ISSUE STRAIGHT

THIS question of whether we are to vote the water bonds Dec. 19 must not be decided on prejudice or misinformation. There is only one issue before the people. It is simply this: Will a flood control and water conservation project benefit Orange county to the extent of $6,620,000?

It isn't a question of what private interests are for or against it. The fact that James Irvine is spending money to defeat the bonds isn't the issue.

The fact that some of Mr. Irvine's own ranch properties are already taken care of by the county-built Santiago dam and that he, consequently, doesn't wish to be burdened with further tax loads for the benefit of the rest of the county, are not in themselves sufficient reasons to vote either for or against the bonds.

The fact that Mr. Irvine's engineers failed to "sell" the army engineers on a less expensive and so-called modified plan is no cause to throw it all overboard and settle down resigned either to dry up or be washed out. Right or wrong the army engineers in this instance are supreme and they have said they would not agree to a lower dam or any other modification of the project because they believed any such tampering would defeat the purpose of the job, which is to provide protection against floods and conserve flood waters. And the Works Progress administration will not let us have the money unless our plan is approved by the army engineers.

Conflicting political interests, selfish interlocking private water interests, prejudice against some members of the board of supervisors, the Whitney case—none of these matters has a single thing to do with what we are to vote on again this month. There is one question and one alone that must be decided—will a flood control and water conservation project benefit Orange county $6,620,000 worth? If it will we can get $6,574,000 more as an outright gift from the government right now and put several thousand men to work at once.

In union there is strength. In cooperation there is power.

In an emergency we all are one, and we join together in the common interest.

And so it should be here now.

We united to build our good roads system and to construct a harbor at Newport bay, and now we must unite to solve our flood control and water problem which is also county-wide.

Orange county's future lies in cooperation between city and country; between coastline and orange belt; between hill and valley; between capital and labor; between every element in our population.

We are doing the wise thing to spend our money to develop a new supply of water, now wasted, rather than spending it in litigation fighting among ourselves over an inadequate supply.

We are an intelligent people. We are a patriotic people. And we are a cooperative people. So we are getting together, after many years of effort, study, and adjustment to accomplish something which we needed twenty years ago, and which we will build eventually and pay for with our own money if we do not use the government funds now available.

LAND THE CLIPPER SHIP HERE

THERE is a move on to induce Glenn Martin, Santa Ana man, now internationally known as an airplane manufacturer, to bring his next trans-Pacific Clipper Ship to Newport Harbor on its trip to Alameda. President W. H. Spurgeon sent a telegram to Mr. Martin urging him to land the clipper in Orange county waters while it is en route from the east coast to Southern California.

Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor chamber, initiated the idea and Santa Ana, through Mr. Spurgeon, has joined in the undertaking.

Aside from the fine idea back of doing honor to a home town boy, Santa Ana and all other cities in Orange county, would find fascinating interest in a close-up of the huge ship, which is one of a fleet to operate on regular schedule between California and the Orient.

Inauguration of such a service is one of the great events in the history of the Pacific. That we have an opportunity to be represented is a matter of no little importance. We trust Mr. Spurgeon and others who are working with him will be successful. Santa Ana has a right to be proud of Glenn Martin and his ingenious mind. Let's tell the world about it.

COLLEGIATE SMOKEEATERS

COLLEGE educations are to be required of New York city firemen if a plan now being worked out to improve public service in the metropolis is given final approval. Before they are permitted to slide down the brass pole to the afternoon pinocle game each must have had four years in college and at least an hour's experience in a rented cab and gown.

Football, while not a requirement, will help materially in obtaining the coveted sheepskin—or will it be oilskin?—and siren blowing will be taught between halves when the team plays Sing Sing.

Special attention is to be given to mathematics, and slide rules doubtless will be used to determine the stretch of the hook and ladder equipment while old grads warm themselves about a blazing skyscraper and listen to pep talks before the squad goes into action.

The fire trucks, we are told, are to be painted lily white instead of red, so there will be no suggestion of communistic influence in the student body.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Diary: Out and fell in stride with Tullio Carminati, the gay dog of the films. And he was bartering for luggage.

Then to breakfast with Percy Crosby and found him mightily distraught about the state of the world. Home and worked chop-chop fashion accomplishing nothing soever. So at my mail and struck by an interesting bit from Mrs. Richard Mansfield. Pleased, too, with Ben Lucien Burman's autographed "Steamboat upon the Bend." And off to the Ted Woodyards' tea to Mrs. Robert W. Chambers.

Dinner at home with our cousins Lucy Virginia and Josephine and I told how I used to pack them about piggy-back and somehow felt dreadfully old. Later, all coaching to Greenwich in the moonshine and what with singing and funny sayings gained some of my lost joviality.

William Gillett, the octogenarian actor, is not going down the other side of the hill in valetudinarian relaxation. He is as spry as the proverbial cricket and recently proved his nimbleness before the radio. His declining years are spent on his Connecticut estate upon which he has installed a miniature railway, completely equipped, and entertains his friends with rides on it. The finest mechanical toy railroad in the world, by the way, is owned by Katharine Brush's son Tommy. The tracks, bridges, tunnels, etc., spread over two large rooms.

Gilbert Miller is latest of the celebrity heavyweights to take up aviation. He recently purchased a plane in London and has already learned to accomplish figures-eight at the Heston flying field. He has gained his flying license and is planning to fly over the channel to Paris on his next trip abroad.

Personal nomination for America's newest feminine heart throb (judging from letters)—the footballer, Bill Shakespeare.

A candy dealer in the aristocratic Plaza section tells of a demand among many old time New Yorkers for pure licorice. Those jet black sticks rarely seen any more. Chauncey Depew was a licorice patron. So were August Belmont and Charles F. Murphy, of Tammany Hall. The taste of this generation does not seem attuned to it. There are smokers who nibble the candy to lessen indulgence. Tobacco is inclined to go blab after licorice.

Harry Piller, somewhat in eclipse, has swung into Paris popularity again. The East Side boy, who became the partner and husband of Gaby Deslys, went to Paris and never came back, has rejuvenated a frayed spot on Champs Elysees and is filling the tables nightly. But poor Ciro's, alas! It, too, after the corrugated shutters had been down for many months, flung them up in the hope of recapturing the milk and monocle opulence. But it was no go. Now the prices have been slashed and Ciro's becomes another Childs.

An all-time low snide tricks on East 59th street this dusk. A forlorn five-piece sidewalk band faces and bare hands emporium by the cold, was rendering a rather goodish program. As they tottered, an interloping rascal hiding across the street would pop out hatless during traffic halts, circulating among the cars with hat extended. At each light he gathered coins while the band played on. I yelled I was going to call a cop and was awarded a blistering benediction that had me flushed and rosy all the way to Lise's. A big son of a gun he was, too.

Bagatelles: Jay N. Darling is one of America's greatest dog lovers. Ed Wynn visits his mother in Atlantic City once a week. Barney Gallant, netted in a Filtration Walk escapade, told the judges: "I'm free, white, 21 and definitely on the make." "Case dismissed," said the court. Gene Tunney is a hair cut putter offer. Joseph Stalin always carries a pipe to the table, puffing between courses.

From a hotel monthly: "No man would, of course, pick up a meat bone and begin gnawing on it." Lead me up to a hatful of spare rib bones and see what.

SHUNS DOCTORS

BLACKHEATH, Kent, England (AP)—Ellen Palmer, who is 108 years old, attributes her long life to "never seeing a physician for more than 100 years." Born in the reign of George IV, she is a believer in the healing qualities of herbs.

COAL FOR COFFEE

ISTANBUL (AP)—Sixty thousand tons of Turkish coal have been shipped to Rio de Janeiro within four months in exchange for Brazilian coffee, trade figures reveal. It is believed that the barter will be doubled next year.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Diplomatic dispatches from Europe indicate concern over the possibility that Germany, Japan and Italy—all three at odds with the league—may get together. . . . Mussolini, who once stormed against the Japanese for driving Italian textiles out of Ethiopia, now says he was misquoted. He has given an extremely friendly interview to the Japanese press. . . . Under Secretary of State Phillips, who will juggle naval tonnage at the London conference today, also is an adept croquet player. He and his chief, Cordell Hull, frequently put their strength against ex-Secretary of State Stimson on the latter's croquet courts. . . . Another ex-secretary of state, Frank B. Kellogg, has rented a spacious house in the capital and come back to live. . . . PWA officials are not worried over the fact that one pier in the unfinished Grand Central dam slipped eight inches. It was not sunk to bedrock. Steel girders now connect all the piers and chances of further slipping are considered slight.

DER TAG Senator William E. Borah has told friends who are urging his candidacy that he will give them his answer by the first of the year. Cause of Borah's hesitancy, according to these friends, is not doubt of his ability to win the nomination, but doubt whether it would be worth risking his seat. Borah's term expires next year, and if he should run for the Presidency and be defeated he would have to retire to private life—an alternative which holds no appeal whatever. . . . Oregon's able Charles McNary, Republican floor leader of the senate, is one politico for whom the Presidency holds no lure. A few days after his recent return to the capital, a group of GOP leaders proposed that McNary permit his name to be entered in the nomination scramble. "Absolutely nothing doing," said McNary. "I am a candidate for only one thing—re-election as senator from Oregon."

Col. Frank Knox is bombarding farm leaders and friends in congress with suggestions for an agricultural program. So far, he has received little help. In Republican national committee circles it is whispered that potent party chiefs in Illinois are far from cordial to Knox's candidacy. Among them are Governor Len Smith and ex-Senators Glenn Otis and Charles Deen. . . . Herbert Hoover plans to make two more major speeches before the nominating convention. The dates and locale of the addresses are still undecided, although one is definitely scheduled for the Middle West.

TOWNSEND-BONUS DEAL Townsend plan leaders are reported to be dickering with bonus backers on a log-rolling deal. Townsends would help the veterans override a presidential veto while veterans would support the old age pension project. . . . Life at the securities-exchange commission last week was just one procedure server after another. Suits of holding companies refusing to register piled up at such a rate that Judge Robert E. Healy, SEC member in charge of utility enforcement, was served with court orders three times in one morning. The acceptance of processes finally became such a routine that Healy's secretary, recognizing the deputy marshal, would usher him into her boss' office with the words: "That man is here again." Healy would take the summons without interrupting his work or conversation. . . . The New Deal is soon to lose another of its professors. Frank Pack, executive of the Farm Credit administration since early in 1933 is leaving after the first of the year to return to his job of teaching agriculture in the University of Minnesota. . . . Several western railroads, which have been experimenting the last two years with reduced passenger and Pullman rates, have notified the interstate commerce commission that the results have been so satisfactory they are making the schedules permanent. As a result the ICC is considering reduced rates throughout the country.

VERSATILE SPEAKER Early this week corn-breeding Henry Wallace talked crops with a group of farmers in Ottawa, Ill. Today (Saturday) he talks before a council of churches in New Haven, Conn., on "Interpreting Jesus in an Age of Change." . . . U. S. postal inspectors do no go out of their way to bar birth control literature from the mails. Though classed as "obscene matter," it is relatively safe from their sleuthing because the public takes no offense. . . . A former Washington taxicab driver has risen to be a member of the investigation division of Tugwell's resettlement administration. . . . Officials of the new archives building are secretly resentful of the vast space taken out of the heart of the building for the shrine of the constitution. They would prefer to have this space for storage—especially when the shrine remains vacant. The constitution has not been moved from the Library of Congress. . . . The TVA newspaper, Norris News, predicts editorially that "Roosevelt will be re-elected by a larger popular vote than the one he received in 1932."

PLENTY OF HOT AIR The wise boys on capital hill are waging that despite White House pressure for a short session, congress will not adjourn before the middle of May. Reasons for this view are: (1) Congress is an excellent campaign forum which both the Democrats and Republicans will exploit to the limit; (2) Many members who are none too sure of re-election would rather remain in Washington as long as possible before facing the voters back home. . . . A favorite resting posture of Representative Jim Buchanan, chairman of the house appropriations committee, is to climb on top of a table and seat himself cross-legged, tailor-wise. Buchanan is noted among his colleagues for two things, small hands and feet, and extraordinary skill at poker.

The New York chapter of the railway and locomotive historical society has presented to the Smithsonian Institution a miniature photograph of Horatio Allen, the first railroad engineer in the USA. The picture was made by a French photographer after Allen became famous as a consulting engineer and railroad builder.

The bituminous coal commission is preparing to spring a surprise on the industry. It will propose that coal grades be reduced from 90, the present number, to either eight or 10. The commission believes this will make for cheaper costs to consumers.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

DEC. 9, 1910 HENPECKED SECTION EBELL New Organization Launched By Business Men Last Night

Twelve good business men, honest and true in all things of a business nature, told their wives "little white lies" last night, in order to enjoy an evening of unalloyed joy. The men who did this awful thing are husbands of the First Travelers' section of the Ebells. They met at the Dragon, and as the society editor would put it, they dubbed themselves the Henpecked Section of Ebells. With Dr. J. I. Clark acting as president, the following attended: C. S. Kendall, L. L. Shaw, F. P. Nickey, J. J. Roper, J. W. Bishop, George S. Smith, T. E. Stephenson, I. W. Van Cleave, Stephen Ross, L. J. Carden and W. M. Smart.

A brief rest after a strenuous forenoon seemed to have a wholesome effect on the local boys who were in the horseshoe pitching contest yesterday. The locals, after getting accustomed to the Long Beach style of play, showed better form and had Long Beach on the defensive at all times.

PAU, France.—M. Legoux broke the world's aviation altitude record today by rising to a height of 10,499 feet. He landed half frozen after a remarkable plane downward.

Misses Josephine and Caroline Yoch and their cousin, John Coffey, who is here from the East, spent today in Los Angeles.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

About Mussolini, China Clipper and Dr. Breasted

MUSSOLINI stirs his people to patriotic frenzy. Their resistance to world pressure is given all the fervor of a crusade. Women are bringing in their wedding rings and jewelry to sustain the shrinking treasury. Children rush forward with their toys from which every particle of metal is salvaged.

If the mere prospect of war pushes the Italian people to such extremes how long could they stand the pressure of a real conflict? It could not last more than a few days, before national bankruptcy and social collapse would be their fate.

It has always been a simple matter to throw the sanctity of religion over the gory picture of war. Archbishop of Milan assures the Italian people that "God is with Italy and Italy with God! Our soldiers in Ethiopia are destroyers of the chains of slavery and assistants of the Lord!" The "Me and Gott" idea always mills around in the heads of dictators.

The louder Mussolini shouts defiance the more evident is his collapse at hand. If he can arouse the whole world against him his purpose will be achieved. He could never save his face after the humiliating experiences in Ethiopia. But to fall before the armed might of the world would cover him with glory and the hallowed memory of martyrdom. If one must drown it is no more painful to drown in a hundred feet of water than in one foot. But it is much more heroic.

Lemon Juice

Howdy, folks! The football season is nearly over and Li'l Gee Gee's sweetie, who plays on a semi-professional team, will soon be putting his brass knuckles away for another year.

SPORT NOTES FROM THE COLLEGES

Eddie McBunion, star halfback of the Castoria college eleven, passed his geometry examination today. He wrote "Eddie McBunion" on the upper left-hand corner of a sheet of paper and just below, "I'm the captain of the football team." The rest of the paper was blank. The professor marked it A-plus. Congratulations on your scholarly attainments, Eddie!

High Cost of Living Note: Joe Bungstarter and his wife were going to buy a home, but they've given up the idea for this year. They decided they'd rather go to a couple of football games instead.

THE TELEPHONE PEST TURNS RADIO ANNOUNCER

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience, guess who this is?"

YE DIARY

Thys afternoon to driving, with Dame Juice, to Laguna, where visiting Milord Frank Cuprien, who did first travel to that district on horseback in 1888, and we to talking of this and that and whatnot, with extraordinary great pleasure, especially to myself. And when we do leave, he doth fill the back of the petrol buggy with apples, as taste as ever I ate. And so, singing merrily, to home, the mountains mighty beautiful in the purple twilight.

Another article by Mr. Juice will appear in an early issue.

Remarkable Remarks

For every friend a congressman makes a dozen enemies. The friends forget, the enemies remember. Congressmen could render 100 per cent more efficient service if jobs were filled on merit.—Dr. L. J. O'Rourke, federal public service executive.

It is Farley Fascism which will permit an army of federal snoots to run riot in every coal bin in the United States.—R. E. Church, Illinois congressman, attacking Guffey coal control act.

THE MOTE AND THE BEAM

When the Man of Galilee came to the defense of the woman the world condemned; when William Knox chastised the arrogance in the human heart in his immortal, "Oh, Why Should the Spirit of Mortal be Proud?" when a great fraternal order in its overflowing charity is willing to write the faults of mankind upon the sands of time, who is he to cast a stone? Life's pathway is strewn with temptations. Some of them we overcome, to some of them we succumb. We try and often succeed in re-establishing our self-control, only to again lose our way. Our failure is some loved one's sorrow, our recovery their joy. It's the old story of the weakness of the flesh. But with all of our human frailties there are those who understand, when others misunderstand, when the temptations of life defeat our endeavors, we still take pride in the fact that those who come within our fraternal circle or domestic solitude tried to recover their equilibrium, and left many a good deed along their pathway with which to reduce the liabilities of temptation. It is the old, old story of the mote and the beam, which came to me so vividly last week when a friend and fraternal brother passed into the Eternal, where judgment is tempered with mercy, and the weary are at rest.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Over at Downey they have school signs which solicit cautious approach and reduced speed. If you go through the lanes at 35 miles an hour it's too fast. I didn't know anything about it until Frank Henderson told me.

If the parking situation does not adjust itself soon it won't be long before the owner will drive his car down town, get all twisted up in the traffic, take the car home, put it in the garage and walk back. That's the solution of the parking problem.

And it's only a trifle more than two weeks until Christmas, which is another matter, and you can't skip it.

Met George Bates Friday night all pepped up. Said he was going out to Garden Grove to debut the water bonds with Charley Havens, and I would have another appointment.

There really is something new under the sun, notwithstanding the Solomonic wisdom. Christmas trees now grow on hotels. Five of 'em on the Santa Ana hotel. He's followed it until the dictionary. He's followed it until the company got its name on the New York Stock Exchange. Gus is the kids' friend. I'm sort of sweet on him myself.

A friend calls my attention to city ordinance No. 1026. I'm not interested.

There's one thing about these traffic statistics that I would like to know. When do I get hit? Every man is entitled to at least some advance information.

The many friends of our well-known townsman, J. P. Baumgardner, have received with gratification news of his convalescence from a recent illness. As a business element he has been of such leadership that his absence is noticed. Over a long period of years J. P., by virtue of his journalistic affiliation, and later commercial identification, was an influential contributing influence in civic decisions, and his by no means yielded his interest in causes which are intended to advance the welfare of Santa Ana. So when illness prevents his accustomed participation his absence is noticeable. Therefore an improvement in his health is classified as good news.

Haven't heard anybody complain for some time about the Chamber of Commerce slogan: "It's Always Cool in Santa Ana."

And from now on individual expression of the yuletide will display itself on the lawns of private residences where trees will be illuminated to accentuate the spirit of the season. It's a very pretty custom, and adds to the joy of the occasion, but it won't satisfy a little heart longing to have Santa Claus leave him a present, or feed a hungry child. I'm in favor of the illumination—and more.
